East High Fills Tradition Need

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

East High, with all of its new equipment and facilities, lacks a big part of school life.

It doesn't have any traditions.

But students, faculty and staff are moving quickly to fill the void with an instant tradition, created primarily through elections.

While the 1,400 junior and senior high students do not have a pattern of time-honored customs directing school activities and providing easy identification, they do have a voice in such matters that tradition ordinarily dictates for Lincoln's other high schools.

Probably the most obvious development has been the evolution of "Martin Spartan," the symbol characterizing East students' overwhelming choice for a name.

Martin, designed by junior John Hancock, is appearing as the spirit of Lincoln East with introductory posters declaring, "Martin Spartan says Barbarian manners are not welcome in Sparta" and "Martin Spartan says to litter is the barbarian way."

Then the Pep Club took up the idea with fight posters for the schools' football games.

There is even a plan to costume a "Martin Spartan" for a school mascot at games, according to John.

Old Loyalties

Martin Spartan has provided another tangible thing to foster loyalty to the new school from former students of all Lincoln high schools and numerous junior highs, Principal Dr. Jean McGrew McGrew said.

"Try as they may, they still carry their old loyalties with them."

"Our idea was to give them as quickly as we could something to identify with," explained the principal who had opened another school before he was named to the Lincoln post.

As the students registered for East they voted on school colors, choosing blue and white.

"We informed the clothing and department stores so that they could plan to accommodate East students at the beginning of the school year," he reported, adding that "hundreds of blue and white sweaters and jackets" have been sold.

in the spring to start the selection of cheerleaders so that the year began with a "certain recognizable group of leaders," McGrew said.

The band was called together before school started so that it was able to play at the first day's all-school orientation session, "giving the students a feeling of an ongoing program — to let them know things had been planned."

Clubs are getting underway through student initiative and "slight" faculty nudges. The yearbook and newspaper are being produced through journalism classes which are conducting all-school elections to decide themes of each.

Not Yet

Student government has not started operating yet until the youths become more acquainted and leaders begin to be identified, according to McGrew. "We're pretty certain there is a group of leaders evolving," he noted.

Entries of school fight songs are being taken by the music department. A vote is expected to determine the all-school favorite and winner of a $50 prize.

Group cohesion of the mixed student body has been centered around athletics because "tradition and hoop-la are generally associated with school sports," McGrew said.

But equally important, he pointed out, is creating an "underlying attitude of appreciation for the academic phases and for what can be accomplished individually."

"This," the principal declared, "is what will make us or break us."

'Purges Almost Caused Defeat'

By HARRISON SALISBURY
New York Times
Assistant Managing Editor

By 1967, as the Soviet Union celebrates the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, the cumulative evidence leaves little doubt that Stalin's purges came close to causing Russia's defeat by Germany in World War II.

Stalin decimated his political and industrial establishment in the 1930's. Of 1,966 delegates to the 17th Soviet party congress in 1934, 1,108 were arrested.

The toll in the Red Army was three Soviet marshals, including the commander in chief, Marshal Mikhail N. Tukhachevsky; every officer who commanded a military district; two of the four fleet commanders, every army corps commander; almost every division commander; half the regimental commanders, members of military councils and chiefs of political work. One-third to one-half of the 75,000 Red army officers were arrested or shot.

One bright July day last summer, Marshal Semyon M. Budenny, veteran of six wars and long an intimate of Stalin, was asked about the Soviet disasters in World War II.

All of the disasters of the war, in the opinion of Marshal Budenny, could have been averted had appropriate steps been taken in time; had the country not moved into the final hours firmly believing war would not occur. He was confident that the 900-day siege of Leningrad, which cost 1,300,000 civilian lives, need not have occurred. Kiev need not have fallen with a loss of nearly 2,000,000 troops, the Germans need not have penetrated to the suburbs of Moscow.

"I don't believe Stalin could have been surprised by Hitler's attack," the marshal said, musingly. But the story he told for the first time of the last hours before the war was one of confusion and unreadiness.

June 21 Meeting

Late on Saturday afternoon, June 21, 1941, Budenny recalled, Stalin summoned a meeting of the Politburo to which he invited some military leaders. The possibility had arisen, Stalin told them, that Hitler might attack Russia either on the night of June 21-22 (as he did) or during the weekend.

The marshal seemed to be unaware that Stalin had been receiving for months warnings from his intelligence network in Germany,

DEJECTED BILLY . . . out of business.

Boy's Sidewalk Stand Shut Down By County

. . . BATHROOMS NOT PROVIDED

Satellite Beach, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Sally Churchill says she'll gladly open her bathrooms to the public if the Brevard County Health Department will allow her 11-year-old son, Billy, to reopen his sidewalk refreshment stand.

The county clamped down on Billy's enterprise last month after a neighbor complained that he was selling frozen refreshments without a permit.

"We got a call from the health department informing us that Billy would have to shut down the stand because it did not have separate bathrooms for male and female customers," said Mrs. Churchill Wednesday.

"I'd let Billy's customers use our two bathrooms if they'd let him reopen his stand," she added.

Father Enraged

Enraged by what he considered an encroachment on free enterprise, Billy's father, William F. Churchill, fired off a letter to the county commission.

"It is ridiculous," the letter read. "Every 7-11 grocery, every sideway fruit stand, every traveling circus and every charitable food and drink sale can be closed on the same basis my son's stand was shut down—and all because of a crank call."

Churchill, employed by the the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at nearby Merritt Island, demanded the stand be allowed to reopen or said he would become "the biggest crank in the state" in pointing out similar violations.

'Protecting Public'

"We're just trying to protect the health of the public," said the Brevard health director, Dr. T. Paul Haney. "We're not picking on little boys; we're just enforcing the laws of the State Health Department.

Dr. Haney said Churchill ignored a request to come to his office with Billy and discuss the matter.

Churchill Tuesday wrote the firm making the product Billy was selling and asked for free legal aid in carrying his fight "all the way to Washington if necessary."

Governor Too

"And he plans to write Gov. Claude Kirk next," Mrs. Churchill said.

She said Billy earned $27 during August and September.

"He put $12 in a fund for college and bought a dog with the other $15," she said.

Mrs. Churchill said Billy stored his product in the family's freezer and took it out to the sidewalk in a portable cooler. She said the cooler and freezer were always clean.

"We eat stuff out of the freezer all of the time," she said, "and nobody has died yet."

Pickering Says Red Try Bigger

. . . U.S. 'LOSING TIME'

Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—The Soviet landing of an instrument capsule on Venus reflects an interplanetary program 10 to 20 times that of the United States, the head of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said Wednesday.

Dr. William H. Pickering complimented Soviet scientists on their success, adding that this country is "running out of lead time for interplanetary programs planned for the 1970s."

Asked at a news conference if he thinks Russia's achievement will spur the United States program, he said: "I want to see the United States have a very active program in the 1970s, and if it takes a Russian shot to do it, why okay."

Congress Refused

Pickering's laboratory directs U.S. space probes. Plans had called for a U.S. instrument landing on Venus in the Voyager program in the early 1970s, but Congress this year refused funds to get it started. The only probes now authorized are Mars flybys of Mariner spacecraft in 1969.

Pickering said the U.S. interplanetary program has been one to two per cent of the space budget over the past five years. He estimated the Soviet effort as 10 to 20% of its space program.

He said the Soviet success confirmed measurements by Mariner 2, which flew by Venus in 1962, that the planet is "a very hot, inhospital body."

Confirmation

The data confirms his belief that "life as we know it could not exist on the surface of Venus, and a manned landing there would be very difficult," he said, but the possibility of some kind of life cannot be excluded as temperatures in mountain areas or at the poles might be low enough for it to exist.

Noting that Venus 4 "may have given us the first direct measurement" of the Venusian atmosphere, he said, "We expect that the data from Mariner 5 tomorrow will provide another measurement of the atmospheric density made by an entirely different technique."

This country's Mariner 5 should pass within 2,419 miles of Venus at 12:34 p.m. CDT Thursday. Lighter and less elaborate than Venus 4, it was designed to measure temperature and density of hydrogen and oxygen. These elements, when excited by sunlight, radiate energy in the ultraviolet range which can be measured by photometers.

Carbon Dioxide

Mariner 5 has no instruments for measuring carbon dioxide—the gas that puts the fizz in soda pop—which Venus 4 indicated constituted most of the planet's atmosphere. Changes in radio frequency as Mariner 5 swings behind Venus should, however, indicate atmospheric density.

"The Soviet and U.S. Venus flights will provide excellent complementary scientific measurements of the planet, and together will constitute a major step forward in the exploration of the Solar System," Pickering said.

Another scientist, Dr. Bruce Murray, assistant professor of planetary science at the California Institute of Technology, which operates the laboratory, said Venus 4 "indicates the Soviets have a much larger planetary program than we. This is not just a stunt. This is a solid, sophisticated scientific achievement."

Personal Property Schedule Discussed

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Omaha — The problem of the personal property schedule appeared to be the chief concern of Nebraska county assessors Wednesday at the opening session of the County Assessors Association of Nebraska.

A proposed schedule with items declared taxable in an attorney general's opinion on what falls in the categories of household goods of personal effects is expected to be presented Thursday.

Prior to the attorney general's ruling most assessors were of the opinion that personal property schedules would not have to be distributed to individuals in 1968 on the basis of a law passed by the 1967 Legislature exempting household goods and personal effects.

Either Category

However, the attorney general's opinion stated that those items such as lawnmowers, sporting equipment and pets do not fall in either category.

Assistant Attorney General Homer Hamilton, who wrote the opinion, told the assessors that his first impression was also that "all items on your place should be exempt."

However, he said, since Nebraska had no cases on which one could rely for an interpretation, the attorney general's office was forced to examine cases from other states on which "we reluctantly had to come to that conclusion."

'Differently'

"Our Supreme Court might decide differently," Hamilton said, "but itis up to the assessors to decide what is done. Court action is a possibility."

State Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance, in opening remarks to the assessors, said he couldn't speak for all 49 members of the Legislature, but he had thought the bill would exempt all items except cars, boats, etc., that are licensed.

"When the bill was presented, I naturally thought of those forms you fill out," Sen. Gerdes said.

Close Look

He said he was not quarreling with the state attorney general's office but he felt that if the assessors decided to include the items in question, a close look should be taken at the amount of revenue collected in comparison to cost of collection.

Association President Lloyd Jones of Gage County told the group that State Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton was unable to attend but had expressed the opinion that the Legislature's intent was to remove all items of household goods and personal effects from the tax rolls except licensed items.

One unidentified assessor said he personally had taken a poll of the county employes and figured the assessments on those items in question for that sampling of individuals and found the cost of collection would exceed the revenue.

Collect 45 Cents

Another county assessor said in his county it would cost more than $3 to collect 45 cents—the average amount of tax of the items in question—plus another dollar or two if it is necessary to send out the sheriff to collect the tax.

State Tax Commissioner Murrell McNeil, in reference to the necessity for sending out personal property schedules for the items interpreted by the attorney general to be taxable, said:

"It is important that when a law is written and interpreted that it be followed."

Thursday's session will include preliminary committee reports, committee meetings and a talk by Hollis Gustafson, state tax consultant.

SPENDING CUT PASSED

Washington (AP) — The House passed, 253 to 143, Wednesday night a bill designed to cut government spending an estimated $7 billion in the year ending June 30.

Fighting to hold down proposed cuts in President Johnson's budget, administration supporters were defeated again and again in a complex struggle that ended with Republicans and Southern Democrats triumphant.

Nailed into a measure to continue emergency financing for departments whose appropriations are still pending —and which will be out of money next Monday unless Congress acts — were two massive spending limitations.

Previous Levels

One would require that spending this year be held at the levels of the previous year —except for outlays in connection with the Vietnam war and certain other specified activities.

This provision was sponsored by Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss.

Added to it was another limitation that was backed solidly by Republicans, headed by Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio. It would set what Bow called an absolute ceiling of $131.5 billion on spending this year — a cut of not less than $5 billion, but estimated by some Democrats to be much higher.

Whitten told the House his measure would mean about a $7 billion cut.

To Senate

The bill now goes to the Senate which is expected to modify sharply if not delete the limitations. This would leave the issue to be fought out in a Senate-House conference.

Lost in the struggle was a painfully worked out measure the House Appropriations Committee had offered. This aimed at a $2.85 billion budget reduction, including a $1.4 billion cut in present spending, through a conbination of payroll reductions and slashes in research funds.

The House debated the bill for hours, amended it extensively, then abruptly junked it by a 238-164 vote and substituted the combined Whitten and Bow measures.

Counterfeiting Up

Washington (AP) — Counterfeiting reached a record high during the last fiscal year but it's still no threat to the nation's economy, the Secret Service said.

ADC Rolls Rise 1,257 Under New Program

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Department of Welfare reported Wednesday that the number of Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) recipients increased by 1,257 to 21,909 persons under a broadened program begun July 1.

Average monthly payments per recipient also increased by $7.49 to $36.76, according to the latest available figures.

E. D. Warnsholz, the department's legal consultant, predicted the September figures —the latest available—"will mark the leveling off point in the new program."

The increase in recipients from 20,652 in June to 21,909 in September largely resulted from LB518, which increased eligibility from 16 to 18 years of age, and to 21 if the dependent is in a recognized training program, he said.

Increased benefits authorized by LB563 account generally for the average monthly payment increase per recipient from $29.27 in June to $36.76 in September, he added.

The ADC program for children deprived of parental support now allows monthly payments up to $110 for the first child and $30 for each additional child.

Maximum payment for a family of five children is now $230 per month as compared with $155 before July 1, Warnsholz said.

The financial aid program is shared two-thirds by the federal government and one-third by the state. Medical costs are shared 61% federal, 19% state and 20% county.

Warnsholz said June ADC payments totalled $604,000 as compared with September's $805,000.

"There may be some further increase," he said, "but I think the new program has reached a leveling off point. This is the third month since the new laws became effective."

Soviet Instruments Drop To Hot Surface Of Venus

World News

Moscow (AP)—The Soviet Union achieved another historic space breakthrough Wednesday by dropping on Venus instruments that radioed back the first information ever received from that planet's surface. The data indicated Venus' temperature was hot enough to melt metal.

U.S. space leaders, awaiting Thursday's flyby of Venus by the American Mariner 5 spacecraft, called the Soviet landing of an instrument package on the cloud-shrouded planet "an accomplishment any nation can be proud of."

Venus 4, the 2,438-pound vehicle that carried the instruments to Venus, "burned itself to ashes" in the planet's atmosphere after letting go its payload, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Atmosphere Very Hot

The information relayed to earth showed Venus' atmosphere to be extremely hot—up to 536 degrees Fahrenheit—and made up almost entirely of carbon dioxide, which the earth's living creatures cannot breathe.

The feat with the unmanned Venus 4 spaceship was a big prestige boost for this country's space program, which had suffered a tragic setback April 24 when cosmonaut Vladimir M. Komarov was killed in the crash of Soyuz 1.

It was also a big leap forward for the Soviet Union in the space race with the United States.

Official announcements described the Venus 4 flight this way:

The spaceship, launched June 12, reached the atmosphere of the planet—50 million miles away—at 11:34 p.m., CDT, Wednesday and released its instruments in a separate package.

This braked itself by putting out a parachute. For the next 90 minutes it floated down the 15 miles toward Venus' surface, sending back data through radio signals.

The temperature rose from 104 degrees Fahrenheit at the start of the descent to five times that at the end. Pressure rose to 15 times that on the earth.

The Jodrell Bank Observatory in England picked up signals from Venus 4 throughout the descent period but nothing since. This indicated that perhaps the impact of the landing or the heat put the instruments out of operation.

But the special Moscow radio report which told the world of the space success said that a soft landing had been achieved.

And Soviet astronomer Vitaly Bronshtein said in an interview with the official news agency Tass that communications with the instruments "are being maintained." He predicted that they will provide "plenty of new information."

Thunderchief Pilot Shoots Down MIG

Saigon (AP) — A U.S. Air Force fighter-bomber shot down a MIG interceptor above Hanoi on Wednesday while other American warplanes pounded Haiphong and its outskirts and ranged close to Red China for a second straight day, U.S. military headquarters said Thursday.

In South Vietnam, U.S. B52 bombers and artillery rained explosives Wednesday into suspected enemy positions in jungles northwest of Saigon after a day-long battle between American and Viet Cong infantrymen that took a heavy toll on both sides.

The Americans killed at least 103 of the Communists, but lost 58 dead and 61 wounded.

Allen, Holleder Killed

Two widely known officers, Lt. Col. Terry Allen Jr., 38, and Maj. Don W. Holleder, 32, were among the American dead, cut down in success in the battalion command.

Allen's father commanded the 1st Division, the "Big Red One," in Tunisia and Sicily in World War II. Holleder, who starred at West Point as an end and quarterback, was voted the most valuable player on the Army's 1955 football team.

An Air Force F105 Thunderchief pilot brought down the challenging MIG17 with 20mm cannon fire while his fellow pilots bombed a railroad bypass bridge only 19 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Boat Yard, Barracks

Simultaneously, Navy Pilots from aircraft carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin returned to Haiphong to bomb the Lach Tray boat yard and a huge army barracks compound.

Both targets were hit earlier this month.

Voice Of Heresy Heard In World Of Economics

By ALBERT L. KRAUS

New York—High-level heresy seems to be a mark of the times. From within every establishment voices of subordinates are heard expressing disagreement with their superiors.

In Rome, Pope Paul VI has found it necessary to caution Roman Catholic laymen against infringing on the spiritual and moral authority of the hierarchy.

In Moscow, heterodoxy if clamoring for the marriage of Marxism and markets.

In Washington, the highest civilian authority in the Pentagon finds no measurable gain from the bombing of North Vietnam. And says so.

Now from St. Louis, a most unlikely place it would seem, the sound of dissent is heard in the world of money and economics.

In what he terms a "reasonable" conclusion, Leonall C. Anderson says that on the basis of recent findings, the Federal Reserve System should be able to control—"with a high degree of precision"—movements in the money supply.

Federal Reserve Economist

If this does not seem particularly heretical, it must be explained that Anderson is an economist employed by the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis and that he is writing in the bank's Monthly Review, just out. It must also be explained that until now the Federal Reserve has made no effort to control movements of the money stock and has expressed no intention of doing so.

Instead, it has focused on interest rates and credit availability. If the money stock has contracted or expanded, the phenomenon has been a result, not the object, of policy.

The issue lies at the center of a raging controversy between the "new" economists, who by and large make up today's establishment, and the "newer" economists, bent on reasserting the importance of money.

They See Boom Ahead

The matter has immediate practical significance. Both the "new" economists and the "newer" ones see boom and inflation ahead in 1968—but for quite different reasons. The "new" economists, who hold sway in such august bodies as the President's Council of Economic Advisers and the Federal Reserve Board, give chief weight to the huge federal deficit with its effect on incomes, investment and interest rates. Their spiritual heritage is drawn from John Maynard Keynes.

The "newer" economists don't downgrade the importance of the deficit, but they denigrate its direct effects. For them, the chief result of the deficit has been to force the hand of the Federal Reserve. By permitting the money supply to expand at the most rapid rate in recent history, 13% so far this year by broad definition, the central banking system has virtually guaranteed excess and inflation in the year ahead. They draw intellectual sustenance from Milton Friedman and the so-called Chicago School.

The most startling notion of the "newer" economists is that tight money doesn't necessarily mean higher interest rates, nor easy money, lower interest rates.

Effect On Income, Prices

That, they would concede, is the immediate effect of a change in Federal Reserve policy. But far more important is the effect of changes in the money stock on incomes and prices. Thus credit restraint ultimately may bring lower interest rates and easy money higher interest rates. This may help explain the current paradox: money easier than at any time in recent history, interest rates higher than in more than 40 years.

The "new" economics emphasizes investment, by business and government. It emphasizes interest rates, in effect the price it takes to command the financial assets needed for investment. Consumption becomes a function of investment. Credit availability helps to determine interest rates.

The implication for policy is clear: keep interest rates down, maintain investment, and incomes and consumption will take care of themselves.

People's Notions Held Up

The "newer" economics says in effect that interest rates and credit availability are far less important than people's notions about how much they like to keep in currency, checking account deposits or working balances in savings accounts.

The money supply—the total currency, checking and time deposits in commercial banks—bears a direct relationship to how comfortable people feel about money.

If the money supply should contract, or fail to grow as fast as it has been, people will find themselves squeezed. To bring their money holdings into comfortable relationship with needs, they will sell shares or other assets. In extremities, they will divert income from the purchase of homes, automobiles and other goods and services. To the extent that they do, this will affect the holdings and incomes of others, setting off a chain reaction that does not end until all feel comfortable again with their holdings of money. One effect is falling demand for credit, hence lower interest rates.

If Faster Than Expected

On the other hand, if the money supply should grow faster than people expect, they will bid up the price of shares and other assets, of goods and services. This results in a faster than sustainable growth of incomes and inflation. One effect is rising demand for credit, hence higher interest rates.

The policy implication this time is different: keep the money supply growing fast enough but not too fast to meet both individual and corporate needs. Forget interest rates and credit availability as yardsticks of policy determination.

Above all, avoid sharp swings in the money supply—unless you are determined to provoke boom and bust.

41 Cars Jump Tracks At Juniata; No One Hurt

Juniata (AP) — Two heavy railroad cranes have been ordered to the scene of a 41-car Burlington freight train derailment Wednesday about two miles west of Juniata.

Railroad officials expected to have a bypass built around the wreck shortly after noon Thursday.

Since the derailment occurred in a cut, railroad officials said it was necessary to use heavy equipment to make a 13-foot cut through a farm field before the 750-foot bypass could be started.

Cause of the derailment of the 41 cars of the 97 car eastbound freight was still not determined. A railroad spokesman said it would take at least a week to clean up the debris.

There were no reported injuries but the area was quickly sealed off from sightseers by the Nebraska Safety Patrol and the Adams County sheriff's office.

Burlington dispatcher's offices in Lincoln and McCook said traffic on the Burlington main line would not be tied up since it is possible to detour the wreck scene by way of Red Cloud.

M. Miller, chief dispatcher of the McCook division, said the Denver-to-Chicago freight was probably traveling near its speed limit of 60 miles per hour when the derailment occurred.

He said cars were piled up rather badly in a small area around the site of the crash, which was 1½ miles west of Juniata. The derailed cars started with the 18th car back of the power units and 41 were derailed.

Most of the cars contained canned goods but there were some refrigerated cars loaded with grapes and there were a few cars of lumber, he said.

Miller said the tracks were not ripped up for any great distance.

Miller was doubtful there were any vagrants riding the train because all the cars were sealed and there was no place for them to ride inside cars.

This would support the no-injury estimate made.

Miller said the conductor on the train was E. G. Daume and the engineer R. E. Hassler, both of McCook.

PILOT WALKS AWAY FROM CRASH

They used to say any landing was a good one if the pilot walked away from it. If the old saying still applies, Roger Garberg, 28, St. Paul, Minn., made a good one in a cornfield just west of Omaha early Wednesday. Garberg was reported in good condition in an Omaha hospital with severe head cuts. Officers said his Cessna-150 apparently landed upright and flipped over in the cornfield. Garberg said he was a ferry pilot for Walstrom Flying Corp., St. Paul.

Cherry Junior College Issue Apparently Loses

Valentine (AP)—Although not all the votes have been tabulated, it appeared Wednesday that Cherry County voters had turned down a proposal to establish a junior college district.

With votes in from six of the seven voting places, there was an unofficial count of 1,834 votes of which 966 favored the proposal and 868 opposed it.

This falls nearly 3% short of the 55% required by law.

The city of Valentine voted heavily in favor of the district—878 for and 304 against.

Observers said the remaining county district to be heard from, an area north of Hyannis, was expected to vote against formation of the district.

There were 19 absent and disabled voter ballots to be counted, not enough to affect the results.

Malpractice Suit Is Filed Against Beatrice Doctor

Beatrice (UPI) — A malpractice suit was filed in District Court here against Dr. L. D. Moell of Beatrice.

The suit, asking damages of $112,500, was filed by Ella Meyer of rural Beatrice. Mrs. Meyer listed in the suit nine points of alleged negligence on the part of Dr. Moell in the treatment of her husband, Clifford Meyer, following an accident Nov. 11, 1966, at a Beatrice grain elevator.

Mr. Meyer has since passed away.

Administrator's Post To Sutton

Fremont (AP)—Fremont has hired Jack Sutton, 31, of Boulder to be city administrator, Mayor E. W. Buch said.

Sutton, the fifth city administrator in 10 years, will succeed Vernon Dunn, who resigned in June. He will begin work Nov. 15, at a salary of $12,000 annually.

Woman Meteorologist Taking Over At Norfolk

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI) —Barbara J. McKain has been appointed meteorologist in charge of the Weather Bureau airport station at Norfolk, Neb., the Environmental Science Services Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce said.

She will be the first woman to serve as a meteorologist in charge of the Weather Bureau's central region. She replaces Harold Alexander, who will retire Saturday.

Miss McKain, who has been stationed at the Weather Bureau airport station in North Platte, Neb., since her appointment to the Weather Bureau in 1943, will take charge at Norfolk on Monday.

As meteorologist in charge, she will be responsible for the Weather Bureau's local forecasts for Norfolk and vicinity, the dissemination of severe weather watches and warnings, and the dissemination of river and flood forecasts and advisories in northeast Nebraska.

North Platte Native

A native of North Platte and a graduate of North Platte Senior High, Miss McKain attended the Nebraska State Teachers College at Kearney, the University of St. Thomas in Houston, Tex., and has completed courses from Pennsylvania State University and Oregon State University.

Alexander, who has been in charge at Norfolk for 21 years, has a total of 38 years of service with the Weather Bureau. He previously served in Atlanta, Ga., Chattanooga, Tenn., Apalachicola, Fla., San Antonio, Tex., and Oklahoma City, Okla.

3rd Study Of Annexation Problem Eyed

Omaha (AP)— Mayor Wendell Kronberg of Ralston said in a talk here that the Omaha-Council Bluffs Metropolitan Area Planning Agency (MAPA) will be asked to study the whole problem of annexation.

Kronberg, a director of MAPA, said he will make the request at a board of directors meeting Oct. 26.

The Omaha planning board has recommended that Millard be annexed effective Jan. 1. A public relations firm hired by Millard and Ralston also made a study of the annexation problem. The MAPA study would be the third such study.

Challenges Conclusions

In his address Kronberg challenged some conclusions of the Omaha study on savings to householders such as a reduction in insurance rates and the lower Omaha sewer use fee. He also said the study assumes that the merger of the University of Omaha and the University of Nebraska will be approved at a special election Dec. 12, eliminating the two-mill property tax levy paid by Omahans for the support of OU.

He said the study also leaves unanswered such questions as how fire protection would be provided to persons living outside Millard who are now served under a contract between Millard and Rural Fire District No. 1.

Mead To Headquarter All Dairy Research

North Platte (AP)—Plans were announced Wednesday for moving the state's dairy research facilities to a single location by Dr. Frank Baker, chairman of the University of Nebraska Animal Science Department.

Dr. Baker said the transfer of the dairy herds from the Scotts Bluff and North Platte stations to the central facility at the Mead Field Laboratory will be carried out over the next two or three years.

The announcement was made at the area meeting of dairymen of the Nebraska-Iowa Milk Producers Association at North Platte.

Fred Register Chosen Head State's IOOF

Norfolk (AP) — Fred Register of Minatare was elected grand patriarch of the grand encampment of the Nebraska IOOF and Mrs. Chloe Klinge of Cozad grand matriarch of the encampment auxiliary at the annual state convention in Norfolk.

The IOOF and Rebecca organizations opened the convention Monday and sessions run through Friday.

Other encampment officers: Ralph Simpson of Norfolk, grand senior warden; J. C. Thompson of Kearney, grand high priest; Elmer Speir of Pawnee City, grand junior warden; C. E. Harden of Omaha, grand scribe; Leslie Stevens of Norfolk, grand treasurer, and Floyd Martin of Arnold, grand representative.

Other auxiliary officers are Mrs. Verna Bowers of Lincoln, grand senior warden; Mrs. Esther Lewis of Crete, grand high priestess; Mrs. Elnore Owens of Minatare, grand junior warden; Mrs. Margaret Jacobson of Fairmont, grand scribe, and Mrs. Phyllis Gould of McCook grand treasurer.

Taylor Chosen

Omaha U Should Expand 'Up' Not Out, Says Mrs. Gallagher

Omaha (AP) — An Omaha civic leader has come to the defense of Elmwood Park and says if the merger of the Universities of Omaha and Nebraska is effected the way to expand is up and not into the park.

Mrs. Paul Gallagher, co-chairman of the Friends of Parks Committee, said in a letter to Mayor A. V. Sorensen the Omaha campus has plenty of space for future construction if it takes to high-rise buildings and especially a high-rise parking structure.

She said a statement by the NU Board of Regents president that the university condemns only when necessary "is not as reassuring as the speaker doubtless felt it was. Our experience has been that an agency with power to condemn scarcely ever perceives the necessity for parks, or the necessities of parks."

Former Gov. Frank Morrison touched off a controversy when he said Elmwood Park, adjacent to the University of Omaha, "can and must be used" to create a major university. Later, he said his remarks were his own personal opinion.

Mrs. Gallagher said she'll urge Omahans to vote against the merger unless the state guarantees it won't take the park.

Youth Escaping Jail Fined $100

Falls City (UPI)—Michael McLaughlin, 18, was fined $100 and costs on a charge of destruction of property. McLaughlin paid the fine and was released.

The charge grew out of the Tecumseh youth's escape from the Richardson County jail Sunday afternoon. He had been detained for investigation when he broke through a window screen and jumped from his third-floor cell.

He later turned himself in to authorities.

County Atty. Harold Gurske said McLaughlin was not charged with jailbreak since no formal charge had been filed against him prior to his flight. He had been originally taken into custody Saturday in connection with an incident involving a local girl.

In addition to the fine and court costs, McLaughlin also paid restitution of $15.82 for the damage he had done to the jail.

Cars In Mishap With No Drivers Discovered Stolen

St. Paul, Minn. (AP) — Police said there were no drivers present when they arrived at the scene of a two-car accident Tuesday night.

Later they discovered why. Both wer stolen cars.

Non-Partisan Basis Favored For Legislature By Stromer

Scottsbluff (AP) — A former Nebraska state senator has declared that changing the unicameral legislature to a partisan body would do nothing more than shield the state from the working of the legislative entity.

The comment came from Marvin Stromer, a six-term state senator now head of the political science department at Hiram Scott College.

Stromer took issue with Gov. Norbert Tiemann's comment at a "Town Hall" meeting at Alliance that he favored the unicameral but felt it should be a partisan body.

"I want the legislator to stand up and expose himself in all of his thinking," Stromer said.

"I have served six terms and I have seen people of all walks of life come in and buckle down and roll up their sleeves and go to work through their own vitality and not be told that they have to sit in the corner for their freshman terms," he said.

"I don't think we should create an iron curtain that will say to the people of Nebraska that if you want to know how I feel on an issue, go see the majority or the minority leaders."

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

"I am not a candidate. I do not intend to be a candidate. I do not want to be president."

That is the latest and, so far, the strongest disclaimer by New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller to the GOP presidential nomination. Rockefeller affirms he is a Romney man — Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

Just how much of what Governor Rockefeller says can you believe? It seems reasonable to believe that he is not and does not intend to be a candidate for the Republican nomination but beyond that, the question gets to be an interesting one.

It is possible that Rockefeller is telling the truth, too, when he says he does not want to be president. If this is true, he could have a variety of motivations. He could have personal reasons for such a position or political ones.

But the job of president is, indeed, a demanding and lonely one. In the American presidency we probably have created the most difficult job in the world.

It is a position of tremendous responsibility in a nation of fantastic potential and resources, a combination that is bound to produce a challenge equal to the skills of any man. One might say that there is greater challenge in a nation where the problems of humanity are greater, but such is not our feeling.

In many such nations the probabilities are so small that the challenge is diminished but in the United States there is great hope of achievement. It is the promise of achievement that adds to the intensity of the challenge and the responsibility of the American presidency.

The president, of course, heads a huge administrative agency in the federal government. It is a frustrating situation because this is an agency of such size and diversity that no man could ever feel comfortably in control of it.

The president, too, is charged with presenting to Congress an administrative program for the conduct of our government. It is the administrative branch which the president heads that conducts affairs with foreign nations and it is that same branch which is charged with our national security at home and abroad.

All of this is in the course of public affairs for nearly 200 million people. And here we begin to approach the crux of the burden of the presidency.

It is a burden that falls to a lesser degree upon every public official but which reaches its zenith with the presidency. This is the burden of representing these people to the best of one's ability.

Unfortunately, the American people do not think enough of this matter of representation. Our form of government is unique in this matter of representation.

Far too many believe that when a public official represents them, he should do exactly as they want. This was never intended and could not possibly be since no two people are exactly alike in their thinking.

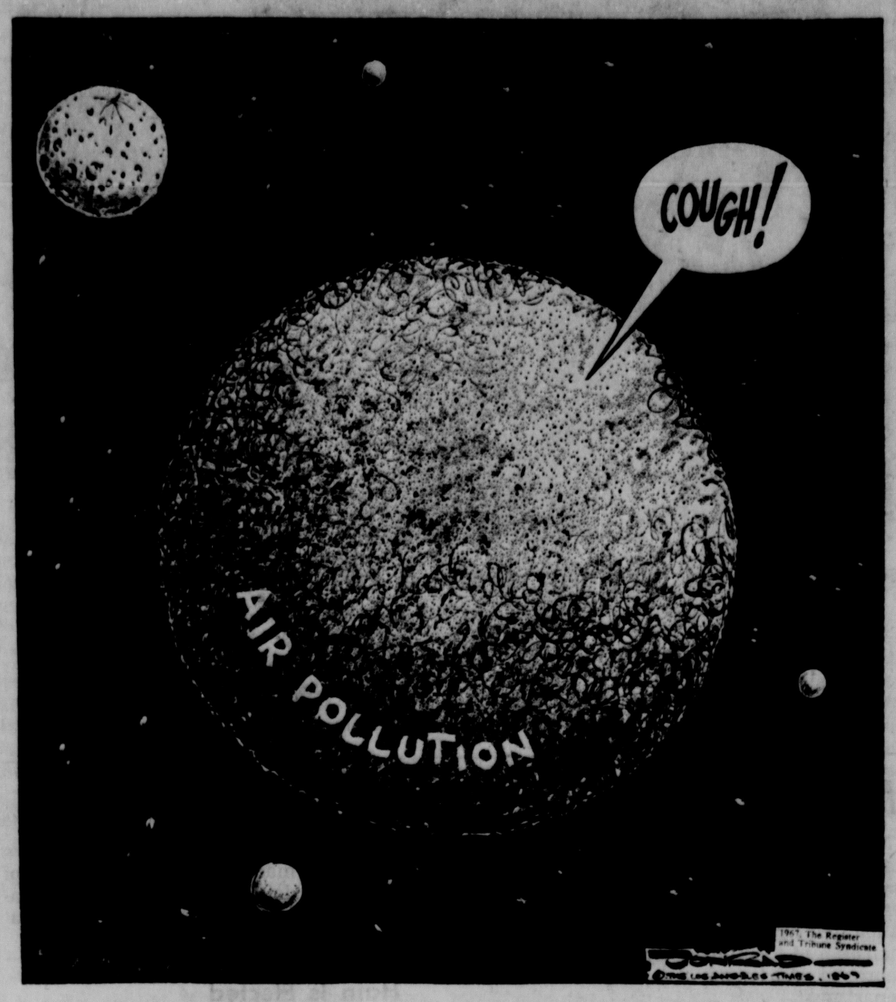

To represent someone in public life means to do for them what is best in the light of all circumstances and facts. It is to make for people the decisions they cannot make because they lack the background and time to do so.

It is like going to the doctor because he has become skilled in the practice of medicine or to an attorney who is versed in the law. It is the official's job to become skilled in public affairs to the point where he can decide things intelligently for those he represents.

But since those he represents often do not know the whole picture, they do not always see things in the same light. Thus, the public official often has to make a decision he believes to be right but he knows will not be popular.

If Rockefeller is telling the truth as to his ambitions, it is understandable because the office he is discussing is an awesome one in many respects, even though it is the most honored in the land.

"The World Won't Come To An End With A 'Bang' . . ."

Governor Is Pulling Wool

When it comes to his belief in progress for Nebraska, we are in total harmony with Gov. Norbert Tiemann, but it is important that he be challenged in his means. The governor persists, in talks across the state, in muddying the waters on the matter of the sales and income tax.

The governor is attempting to make it look as if there is some physical or financial reason that we have to have a sales tax producing two-thirds of state revenue and an income tax producing only one-third. He seems to want people to believe that this, somehow, is a matter beyond his control, dictated by circumstances such as the state's cash flow, a term that simply confuses the average person.

In an appearance at Alliance, the governor stated: "I don't know what is a balanced tax. With the fiscal bind we're in, the sales tax is the best source to provide revenue. It is necessary to have a 3 per cent sales tax to keep the income tax rates where they are. If there is an imbalance, and very likely there is, that is the reason."

That statement is a bunch of double talk. A balanced tax, Governor, is one that produces as much as its partner. A balance is 50 per cent one way and 50 per cent the other. A balance is equal weight on both sides: The governor must not have been listening in grade school when other children learned the meaning of "balance."

The state's fiscal bind has nothing at all to do with our kind of income. We can solve our "bind" any way we like, with a giant sales tax alone, a giant income tax alone or a combination. If we end up with a 3 per cent sales tax, it will be because that is what the governor personally wants, not because any facts support it.

Who Minds The Store?

Is there any one among us who has not at one time or another — say, during a traffic jam — yearned for life on a Pacific isle? What could be more delightful —tropic breezes, fresh air, balmy weather, no radio or television, no screaming headlines of doom and gloom.

For that reason, we wish well the couple who has announced plans to fly to American Samoa and then proceed by boat to a deserted island 80 miles from Pago Pago. They'll stay two months — living off nature — then build a raft and ride ocean currents back to Pago Pago.

While the rest of us slave away to make a buck or two, they'll be resting in the sand, warmed by the tropical sun. While we grouch at a crabby alarm clock, they'll be awakened by the gentle dawn. While the rest of us stand in line at the supermarket, they'll grab the nearest coconut and eat in the open air.

These modern Robinson Crusoes are doing what many of us would like to do. They're leaving it all behind to live the good life. No crabgrass, no screeching tires, no work-a-day routine.

There's a couple of hitches, though.

For one thing, we'd be willing to bet they suffer from extreme boredom by the end of the first week. After all, what good is it to relax if there's no tension to relieve? This is something most of us have experienced during the annual two-week vacation. After the first few days, you've just got to start doing something again.

Besides, what would happen if everyone decided to pack up and head for the islands? After all, someone has to mind the store.

Or do they?

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

The day was dreary and rainy, a good day to make something tasty to take our mind off the rain, I thought. I began by making rye bread. While it was rising I made the first date pudding of the season. I also began an apple cake using fresh chopped apples and nutmeats. I paused to put the bread and date pudding in the oven, and to my surprise the oven did not get warm.

Our electric stove is twenty years old but has given good service . . . but as The Farmer says, there's not much that can go wrong with them. Not until this day, at least.

I discovered that the lower coils on the burner that slip into prongs at the back of the stove were not heating. I called The Farmer who was in the work shop. Whether he was working in his shop or mine did not make much difference. He began at once by pushing the lower baking unit into the back of the stove securely. Earlier in the week I had cleaned the oven and removed the unit at that time. Also I have been known to call for help when some small oversight such as plugging a cord into a socket has been the only trouble.

This time it was more than getting the unit fixed into the back of the oven. The Farmer brought in various sized screw drivers and other tools that made him look as if he could fix the oven. I took new hope.

He delved deep into the black cavern and removed a part screwed into the back of the oven and found a wire had broken in the unit. After removing smaller parts and screws he succeeded in getting in, mending the broken wire, putting everything back together again and presto. It worked!

I quickly put the bread, date pudding and apple cake into the oven. Considering the time the food had stood before baking, it all turned out surprisingly well.

If there were flaws we didn't notice them. The rye bread was sliced and cheese put on each slice, . . . the date pudding was out and covered with a caramel sauce and the apple cake was served with whipped cream over the top. Perhaps I camouflaged the imperfections. If I did, it turned a dreary rainy day into one of enjoyable eating.

The wheat is green and vigorous after a difficult fall of trying to get it in the ground. While the moisture was welcome, it did not come at the time when farmers could conveniently cope with it. The sub-soil moisture is much higher now. Going into a winter with ground moisture is always a reassuring condition for often our winters do not bring snow.

Farmers would also like hot drying weather now for the corn and milo. The cool damp days have done nothing to dry the crops. Which brings one to the conclusion of how can we all be satisfied weather-wise. Personally I thrive on cool days such as we have been having. I remember the dry hot days of the thirties and the sleds the farmers used to get the frail stalks of corn for feed.

A winter of snow is tolerable, although it makes for inconvenience. Nebraska with its winter wind is the thing that gives snow a bad name. It drifts the snow into banks and blows down the power lines. But snow, quiet soft snow falling to earth, covering the countryside in a white blanket, is not an enemy of man. It's that whipper-snapper we call wind. Maybe we will also have a winter as unusual as the past season . . . plenty of snow and no wind. Wouldn't that be a delight?

Plugging Lincoln

Lincoln, Neb.

It was my privilege to attend the sixth game of the World Series between the Boston Red Sox and the St. Louis Cardinals. This was without a doubt the most fantastic and thrilling game I have ever seen. The Sox used three pitchers, hit four home-runs, made 12 hits and scored eight runs. Meanwhile, the Cardinals used eight pitchers, hit one home-run, made eight hits and scored four runs.

Since the Sox had not won an American League pennant since 1946, I was pleased when they won this season. I was also anxious to have them win the World Series, since they had not won a series pennant in 49 years. The Cardinals had too strong a pitcher in the person of Mr. Gibson of Omaha.

May I add that I was not the only Lincolnite at the sixth series game, for a plane trailing a streamer carrying the words, "INDUSTRY LIKES LINCOLN, NEBRASKA," was continuously flying over Fenway Park stadium.

Parking Situation

Lincoln, Neb.

We live on one of Lincoln's many poorly lighted and narrow streets, and a large percentage of the residents insist on parking their cars on the street, night time as well as day time. We have counted as many as 11 or 12 cars on one or both sides of the street as we approach it. All or most of these people have either driveways or garages and some of them have both.

It is difficult to understand why the city allows this condition to exist. It is a nuisance and dangerous. If there are cars approaching from both directions, it is impossible to meet and pass. One or the other must stop to let the other pass. There are many small children living on this street who can and do dash out from behind cars and a driver must be constantly alert to avoid hitting one. We call attention to one resident who parks a large truck on this street every night.

We think it is high time and very essential that the city compel these people to keep their cars off the street before some tragic accident happens.

No Race Issue

Lincoln, Neb.

This is in reference to the article in The Lincoln Star dated October 11, in which Governor Tiemann accused a Democrat of an "unfair attack."

I am not writing in regard to any violation, as I know nothing of the details of this possible statute infringement. I am curious to know why Governor Tiemann has made a race and minority group issue out of this disagreement? Hess Dyas and I are both 100% for equal rights for all but when or if a person doesn't qualify for a job or violates a statute, then race, creed, color or station in life should not enter into the discussion.

I will not elaborate on the reference to "sour grapes" since that was purely a remark of spite and definitely had no place in the argument.

NEW YORK—This is National Bible Week. The theme of this 27th annual observance, sponsored by the Layman's National Committee and the American Bible Society, is "Good News for Modern Man."

The Bible never makes the best sellers list, but leads the pack week after week, year after year, century after century.

Admiral William F. Raborn, USN (Ret.), one of the fathers of the atomic submarine, is the Week's national chairman this year. At a luncheon here last week he was presented with a replica of the "George Washington" Bible by Theodore Sotell, Master of St. John's Masonic Lodge No. 1, the oldest lodge in New York. The original, the Bible on which Washington took the oath as first president, was on hand at the Plaza banquet room, under heavy guard despite the keen reverence all those present were paying to it.

"Funny thing happened that day of Washington's inauguration here in New York," Mr. Sotell told us. "Everything was attended to in great detail but at the last minute it was discovered that nobody had been assigned to bring along a Bible.

"Somebody remembered there was one in the old coffee house at the corner of Wall and Water Streets. He sped there, fetched it and raced back to the ceremony just in time."

Washington rested his hand on Genesis 49 and 50 as he repeated the oath.

While we're on the question of the Bible, I wish the theologians would stop rewriting the New Testament. The beautiful word "blessed" is changed to "happy" in the American Bible Society's souvenir Bible which each luncheon guest received. "Blessed are the poor for theirs is the kingdom of heaven," from the Sermon on the Mount, now reads, "Happy are those who know they are spiritually poor, the kingdom of heaven belongs to them!" Not to mention the ridiculous "Happy are those who mourn."

My friend Frank Coniff, the editor, probably is right when he predicts that one of these years somebody will change "Suffer the little children to come unto Me for theirs is the kingdom of heaven" to "Let those crazy kids come through and get My autograph."

Shirley Temple Campaign A Little Shaky; Actor-Governor Reagan Missing No Cue

LOS ANGELES—The big question in California is whether it will continue the current trend of putting actors in charge of government.

The question will be decided next month when northern Californians vote on whether to send Shirley Temple, now Mrs. Charles A. Black, to Congress.

The little girl movie star who entranced so many children 30 years ago is now running on the Republican ticket on a morality platform.

Ironically, the public has forgotten that Shirley isn't particularly well qualified to talk about morality. When she sued her first husband, John Agar, the packing house heir, for divorce, he replied with a blistering cross-complaint accusing her of similar misconduct.

The world was shocked. Public reaction was so bad that Shirley's box office days ended.

Shirley Temple's affairs were her business up until the time she started running for Congress on a morality program. At that time they became the public's business.

NOTE — Shirley is running in a field of candidates so numerous you can hardly count them, which should help her because hers is the name everyone knows.

Of California's other two actors now gone government, Sen. George Murphy, the ex-soft-shoe dancer, is enjoying relative obscurity in the Senate, while Gov. Ron Reagan is enjoying great popularity outside California, less in California.

Reagan, who never played a lead role in a "B" picture, is now playing the lead role in making California a "B" state.

When you apply for industrial accident insurance in California after you suffer injury on the job, you find that it takes months and months to receive compensation. Reagan has dropped so many state employes from the compensation staff that it's physically impossible to get your claim processed.

Or when you appeal to have your automobile license restored without going through the normal 60-day period, the clerk will tell you candidly that you'll save time by waiting 60 days; it would take 90 days to appeal—all because so many state employes have been dropped from the licensing staff.

Or if a member of your family has been suffering from mental illness, you find that the very efficient system of mental clinics established by Gov. Pat Brown has been drastically curtailed, with the result that your relative has to go to a mental hospital instead. This means that in the long-run, the state of California will pay more, since upkeep in hospitals is far more expensive than occasional visits to state-run clinics.

But Gov. Reagan, California's No. 1 actor, is still missing no cues. His lines are good, his speeches well rehearsed. He watches his exits and his entrances, never misses a chance to appear before the footlights via television.

For instance, the new governor spent two days out of a busy month sitting with the Board of Regents. This is unheard of on the part of any previous California governor. The Board of Regents includes some of the leading citizens of the state, ranging from Mrs. Norman Chandler, wife of the publisher of the Los Angeles Times, to Simon Norton, biggest businessman on the West Coast, Ed Pauley, oilman confidant of Harry S. Truman, and Fred Dutton, former assistant secretary of state.

Both the press and the TV cameras are admitted to Boards of Regents meetings, and Reagan sits there for two full days.

Reagan's chief opposition strangely comes from Mrs. Chandler, even though the L.A. Times once endorsed him; also from Norton and Dutton. They argue that California's great industrial complex will suffer if it loses its present high output of scientists and engineers.

Though California ranks among the top industrial states in the nation, they point out it is only eighth in per capita support of higher education.

California must attract skilled brains and skilled labor in order to keep on top as one of the leaders in aviation and space. Gov. Reagan, however, believes otherwise.

German Attack Catches Bolsheviks In Disarray

from Richard Sorge, the Soviet spy in the German Embassy in Tokyo (naming the date and time of the Nazi attack), from Prime Minister Winston Churchill; from Sumner Welles, U.S. undersecretary of state; from the Soviet ambassador in London, Ivan M. Maisky, from military commanders on the western front, from naval and air patrols in the Baltic, the Arctic and the Black Sea, and not only had ignored the warnings, but had arrested some of those sending in such reports on charges of treason.

The marshal recalled, that at the end of the meeting Stalin said, "Budenny seems to know what he thinks should be done. Let's put him in charge."

Named Before Attack

The marshal was named commander of the reserve army nine hours before Hitler attacked. When the Germans struck at 3:30 a.m. on June 22 Budenny was in the People's Commissariat of Defense on Frunze Street in Moscow, working furiously. He had no army, no staff, no equipment, no weapons. No one had yet been ordered to follow his suggestion that the Dnieper River be made a moat. The planes still were staked to the ground and 95 per cent of them were destroyed in the first German air strikes.

"Georgi Malenkov was my political commissar," Budenny recalled. "I told him to get some sleep. I would put together a staff. We were supposed to leave in the morning for the western districts."

The haphazard last-minute orders to Budenny were typical of the disarray in Moscow at the moment of Hitler's attack.

As late as 6 a.m. and 7 a.m., two or three hours after German planes, tanks and artillery had begun their assault, Stalin seemed incapable to believe that war had begun. He still refused to give clear-cut orders to the Soviet armed forces.

"The tragedy of it," said former Ambassador Maisky, now 83 years old, "was that Stalin believed in nobody, except Hitler. He believed in Hitler. He thought he could outmaneuver Hitler. It was a question of psychology."

Stalin Locked In

It was five days after the outbreak of war before Maisky, then in London, got a message from Moscow. Stalin, certain that all was lost, locked himself in his study and refused to give any orders.

Stalin's "psychology" cost Russia dearly. The disaster made the Japanese surprise of the United States at Pearl Harbor look like a child's game. The Soviet Union won the war. But it remained the disaster of a century. The cost of Stalin's victory dwarfed the losses of Napoleon's invasion in 1812 and the burning of Moscow. Only the Mongol incursions of the 13th Century cost Russia so much.

Could history repeat itself? Could a new Stalin arise? Most Russians in 1967 said firmly that this could not happen. "That is why we had the 20th Party Congress," one prominent Soviet official said. "To end the possibility of another tragedy like that of Stalin."

Some others were not so sure. They felt that the poem of Yevgeny Yevtushenko, warning his country to "stand guard" over Stalin's grave lest his spirit slip out and again haunt the Kremlin, still had a point.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Couple Disagrees About Telephone

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "My wife and I are fussing about the phone. I tell her we should take it out and save the $10 a month it costs, which would go a long way toward easing the pinch of living on Social Security. But she says she'd rather have the phone than me and that if the phone goes, so does she. What do you think?"

A. I think she's kidding. In any case, a phone is a necessity, not only as a means of keeping in touch with family and friends but as a safety measure in case of emergency. Surely you can scout up some kind of part-time work to bring in an extra 10 bucks a month so you can hang on to both your phone and spouse.

Q. "Please urge non-drivers past 60 to discover the fun of driving a car. Until last year I insisted I simply couldn't learn to drive. But my husband passed on and rather than dry up in our isolated suburb I had to learn. It was the easiest thing in the world and instead of moping around home the past year I've been scooting around at the wheel of my car. Most of the time I've got a carload of folks not blessed with an auto or the ability to drive. In my opinion an auto can be an oldster's greatest blessing."

A. You're right — an auto can provide enormous satisfaction for older people in communities where public transportation is not readily available. Elders can also take pride in statistics which indicate that drivers past 60 have better safety records than those in younger age brackets, thanks to slower driving speeds and a greater sense of caution.

Q. "My wife and I were invited to play bridge the other night with some new neighbors. Just as we were arriving we heard the hostess call up the stairs saying, 'Mother be sure and stay in your room tonight as we're having company.' Don't you think it's disgraceful to treat aged parents this way?"

A. Not necessarily. Young people are entitled to live independently, and older parents who choose to live with them should be willing to respect their children's wishes for privacy. Of course it's wonderful when grown children and aged parents can live together in complete harmony. But it doesn't work out this way in nine cases out of 10.

If you would like the booklet, "Things Churches Should Do for Older People," write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins at Forty," care of The Lincoln Star, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Game Commission Official Protests Depot Land Sale

The deputy director of the State Game Commission said Wednesday he thinks the sale of land at the Hastings Ammunition Depot is "highly illegal."

"It would appear to be a collusion,"" Willard Barbee said in referring to the 4,497-acre tract the Federal General Services Administration (GSA) sold to the City of Hastings for slighly over $1 million.

The city of Hastings has reportedly resold the land to three, firms and one private party, all of Hastings.

The Game Commission had wanted a portion of the tract for recreation. A commission survey showed that 70% of the persons in Nebraska are within two and a half driving hours of Hastings.

The sale was made prior to the Oct. 23 deadline when a bill passed which denies cities the right to acquire land for agricultural purposes becomes effective.

J. Wayne Harrop, chief of the GSA property disposal division in Kansas City, said both the Game Commission and the City of Hastings had applied for the land.

He said that the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation is ordinarily asked to investigate and evaluate such situations where a State Game Commission is trying to purchase land for recreational uses.

He said the investigation was not made in the Hastings case because the GSA "weighed both applications and in our opinion the City of Hastings offer was better for the community and the public good."

Rail Unit Reports Support In Fight Against Rate Hike

A Nebraska State Railway Commission representative reported Wednesday that Rep. Robert V. Denney, R-Neb., and various Nebraska farm organizations have endorsed the commission's stand in opposition to rail increases on grain and grain products in all states west of the Missouri River.

Gordon Ganka, the commission's chief rate analyst, appeared before the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) in Washington last week to testify against the increases.

Nebraska was the only affected state to be represented at the Oct. 10 preceeding, Ganka said. Representatives of the U.S. Department of Agriculture expressed gratitude "because Nebraska's testimony was in accord with the department's position on the discriminatory rate increases," he reported.

Hearing Scheduled On Tax Withholding Rules

State Tax Commissioner Murrell B. McNeil will hold a public hearing Nov. 6 on proposed rules and regulations for the withholding and estimating of state income taxes.

McNeil said oral and written testimony would be received beginning at 9:30 a.m. in the West Senate Chamber at the State Capitol.

Complete text of the 20 regulations for individual income tax withholding and corporate and individual estimated income taxes are available at the tax commissioner's office.

Under the adopted 10% state income tax rate, the state's withholding rate will be equal to 10% of the federal withholding rate.

McNeil said application forms for withholding have been mailed to employers whose names appear on the business master file of the Internal Revenue Service.

Additional applications will be available at county treasurers' offices for convenience of employers who have not received the preidentified forms, he said, or may be requested from his office.

CAB IS URGED TO ENLARGE HEARING

Washington (AP) — Three Nebraska members of Congress have asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to enlarge a case involving improved airline service to Omaha so as to include consideration of air requirements of Lincoln.

The three, in a letter to the CAB, said they support the proposal for increased Omaha service, but added that Lincoln has properly requested certain modest service improvements and that Frontier and Ozark airlines have filed applications to provide the requested service.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska and Carl T. Curtis and Rep. Robert V. Denny, Nebraska Republicans, asked that the needs of the two cities be heard together.

Lincoln has urgent need for consideration of its request and, because of its proximity to Omaha, can be seriously prejudiced by a hearing limited solely to the needs of its neighbor, they wrote.

In the circumstances, it does not seem in Nebraska's interest that Lincoln be cast in the role of an Omaha adversary, which it has no wish to be, and expend its funds and efforts to make and protect its own record of traffic generation, without any hope of affirmative relief in the case the letter said.

It is not now fact, and it is not in the best interest that Lincoln become an Omaha satelite airport, the congressmen wrote.

$85,000 Duff Home Addition Approved

Nebraska City (UPI) — The Otoe County Board has signed a contract with the Dunbar and Dunn architectural firm of Omaha for an $85,000 addition to the Duff Memorial Home.

Bids on the project will be opened Oct. 31. Separate bids will be taken on a sprinkler system for the home.

Imports Curb Can Hurt Economy, Bring Reprisals—Rusk

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk cautioned Wednesday that a drive in Congress to curb imports can bring appalling repercussions on the national economy and harsh reprisals on its export industries.

Rusk led off the testimony of four Cabinet officers. The Johnson administration wheeled its big guns into a jam-packed hearing room on Capitol Hill to counter the threat to an omnibus import quota bill. It is spearheaded by Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

The secretaries—Stewart L. Udall of interior, Orville L. Freeman of agriculture, Alexander B. Trowbridge of commerce, and Rusk—forecast a global trade war if, as they described it, America reverses a 33-year-old expansionist trade policy.

Dirksen Opposed

But Dirksen ran into opposition among his Senate Finance Committee colleagues to Dirksen's announced plan to attach the quota amendments to the popular Social Security bill, to avoid a presidential veto.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., started off with the opinion the rider would be unwise. Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who is co-sponsor of some quota legislation, called it "the height of irresponsibility."

Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, the ranking Republican on the committee, has already declared his opposition. And Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., in the forefront of the quota forces, sounded dubious. The problem with the rider, he told newsmen, "is to find a horse big enough for it to ride" in a year when there is no trade legislation.

Reprisals Possibility

The comments suggested there is substantial opposition to Dirksen's plan, which has triggered anxious diplomatic protests or threats of reprisals from the six Common Market countries, Australia, some Latin American nations, and others.

Testifying along with the four secretaries was William P. Roth, chief American negotiator in the recent round of reciprocal tariff cuts, who said the Dirksen plan would wreck the new agreements.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler sent the committee a concurring statement, and Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz, who was scheduled to testify but did not appear, was reported to be preparing another.

Import Ceilings

Rusk estimated that commodities representing $5.7 billion in import trade would be hit by six pending bills to impose blanket import ceilings on meat, steel, lead, zinc, dairy products, textiles, shoes oil and a long list of other products.

"The consequences of such a repudiation would be critically detrimental to our basic national interests." Rusk testified.

Rusk noted that the United States could not choose the industries which foreign countries would single out for retaliation. To protect the steel industry from overseas competition, he said, might not only mean higher steel prices but "reduced foreign sales opportunities for our farmers, our producers of machine tools, computers, canned fruit, automobiles and who knows what else."

"This administration is opposed to a retreat into protectionism," he closed, "because it will harm our domestic economy, rather than help our labor force, contribute to inflationary pressures, and undermine our foreign policy by breeding hostility and discontent when we need peace and cooperation.

"That would be far, far too high a price to pay."

Report Denied

Paris (UPI) — Official sources at the Elysee Palace described as "bizarre and untrue" a British Broadcasting Corp. report that the health of President Charles De Gaulle "is causing increasing concern" here .

Eye Studies Win Swede, Two Yanks Nobel Prize

Stockholm, Sweden (AP)—Two Americans and a Swedish neurologist were awarded a Nobel Prize Wednesday for their discoveries on how the human eye works.

Haldan Keffer Hartline of New York's Rockefeller Institute, George Wald of Harvard University and Ragnar Granit of Sweden shared the prize for physiology or medicine for their work on "the primary chemical and physiological visual processes in the eye."

The prize, awarded by Sweden's Royal Caroline Institute medical faculty, amounts to $62,000 to be shared equally among the three.

Message Transmission

Hartline, 63, who studied medicine at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, and headed its biophysics department 1949-53, has made basic contributions to the investigation of how visual cells send their messages to the brain.

He also has succeeded in demonstrating the reaction pattern of individual visual to variations in kinds and amounts of light.

He was awarded the W. H. Howell Prize in 1927, the Warren Prize in 1948 and the Albert Michelson Prize in 1965 for his discoveries.

Wald, 60, is a world authority on the biochemistry of perception. A Harvard biology professor since 1948, he received the Lasker Prize in 1953 and the Rumford Medal in 1959 for biochemical research.

Receiving Function

His main concern is the receiving function of the eye and chemistry's role in the mechanism of vision. He has reached a number of important findings about photochemical reactions of cells in the retina at the back of the eye.

The importance of Vitamin A to vision was one of his discoveries in the 1930s.

Hartline, a soft-spoken man with a white moustache, told newsmen in New York he was "not very comfortable because of all the fuss that is going on." He said he first heard of his honor on a radio newscast while eating breakfast.

"What did you do?" he was asked.

"I finished my breakfast," he said.

Champagne From Beaker

At his Cambridge, Mass., laboratory, Wald sipped champagne from a chemistry beaker with his wife and collaborator, Dr. Ruth Hubbard Wald. "I'm a little breathless," he said.

Granit, born in Finland, is a member of the Swedish Academy of Science. He worked at the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Helsinki before joining the Caroline Institute in 1940. His concern is with the processing of impulses in the complex cell network of the retina. He became a Swedish citizen about 10 years ago.

The medicine prize was the first of four Nobel Prize categories to be awarded this year. Thursday noon the Swedish Academy of Letters will announce the award for literature. Guatemalan writer Miguel Angel Asturias is mentioned frequently in speculation here.

Physics, Chemistry

The prizes for physics and chemistry will be awarded Oct. 30.

The Nobel Prize money comes from a foundation set up by Alfred Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite. The king of Sweden traditionally presents the awards Dec. 10, the anniversary of Nobel's death.

Americans have dominated the medicine category, particularly in the past decade, collecting 30 prizes compared to 15 for Britain and 10 for Germany. Last year's prize was shared by two American cancer researchers, Charles Huggins and Peyton Rous.

Sweden had not received a Nobel Prize since Prof. Hugo Teorell was awarded the medicine prize in 1955.

Redistricting Conflict Ends In Congress

Washington (UPI)—House and Senate conferees broke a three-month deadlock Wednesday and agreed no state would have to redistrict until after the 1970 census.

The legislation is aimed at compliance with the Supreme Court ruling to redraw congressional districts on a one-man, one-vote basis.

The compromise would prohibit at-large races in any states except New Mexico and Hawaii, where they have been customary. States which had a special census could redistrict before 1970.

Opinions varied on how many states would be affected and on whether the directive would halt redistricting in states where court orders already have set the process in motion. In these cases, the legislation itself could become subject to court interpretation.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee said approval of the conferees was overwhelming.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., however, described the legislation as "completely unacceptable." He said he expected to oppose it when it comes up in the Senate for final approval. Kennedy has consistently fought any slowdown in compliance with one-man, one-vote rulings.

San Francisco (UPI)—The beginnings of what is now the San Francisco Symphony date back to 1855, six years after the California Gold Rush.

Nebraska 'Shining Light' To Educational Systems

"Education is big business and Nebraska is a shining light in the educational world," Dr. Howard Dooley of Omaha, president of the Nebraska Independent College Foundation said Wednesday.

He spoke before some 150 Lincoln busniessmen and educators at the annual Educaton-Business Day sponsored by the education committee of the Lincoln Chamber of of Commerce and Nebraska Wesleyan University.

The program is designed to acquaint Chamber members with the relationship between colleges and the business community.

"We must center our attention on people, plans and a sense of partnership," Dr. Dooley said.

He observed that "schools are student-oriented and students are the most talked about, the most praised and the most ciriticized people in our society."

He said Nebraska educationally is coming of age, with over 53,000 students registered in the state's colleges and universities last year.

"We talk about a partnership between education and business, but education is business—it is big business," Dr. Dooley asserted.

"Education has learned management and long-range planning from the business community."

Dr. Vance Rogers, Wesleyan president, told the business leaders not to "roll with the punches" but to strive to understand the motivations of today's students.

Also on the program were Chancellor Clifford Hardin of the University of Nebraska and Dr. Neil Rowland, academic dean of Union College.

Des Moines' Elm Tree Toll Has Lincoln Officials Smiling

A $13 million loss by Des Moines, Iowa, has Lincoln Park Department officials smiling.

It is not that Park Superintendent James Ager rejoices in the suffering of a neighbor, but the situation demonstrates Lincoln's gain.

Ager received a copy of a WHO radio editorial in which it was pointed out that Des Moines will lose all its elm trees to Dutch Elm Disease. The cost of removing these trees, because Des Moines has done "too little, too late," will be $13 million, reported WHO.

In contrast, Ager has pointed out in a letter to the City Council and the Park and Recreation Board that Lincoln's elm loss this year from the disease stands at 149 trees. This, he noted, is a .42% loss, equal to the best efforts of any city in the nation with a complete control program.

Lincoln is currently spending between $25,000 and $30,000 a year in its systematic program of spraying and trimming. Without this program, said Ager, the city in 1968 would be faced with the removal of 12,500 elm trees at an average cost of $100 per tree.

Lincoln would face the prospect, he said, of a complete loss of all its 25,000 elm trees during the next three to four years.

Another 11,000 elms on private property would be endangered, he noted.

Of the 149 elms lost this year, 91 have been on private property and 58 on public property.

NU Enrollment 18,067; Boys Outnumber Girls Almost 2-1

Official figures for the first semester enrollment at the University of Nebraska Wednesday totaled 18,067 students with boys outnumbering girls by almost 2 to 1.

Sixty-three students were added to the University roster over the preliminary registration of 18,004.

The final enrollment is still 433 less than projected attendance of 18,500.

There are 11,659 male students compared to 6,408 females.

The College of Arts and Sciences has the largest enrollment with Teachers College second and Engineering and Architecture third.

A breakdown of the number of students in each college is:

'Greek-In' Slated At Pioneers Park

Fraternities and sororities at Nebraska Wesleyan University will hold a "Greek-In" Saturday, Oct. 28, at Pioneers Park.

Purpose of the "Greek-In" is to clean-up the park, according to Lynne Robertson, publicity chairman of Ionians, a Greek service organization at NWU.

The clean-up will start at 10:00 a.m. Greek games, including a tug-of-war and egg relay will be held after a picnic lunch at the park. A combo party in the evening at the NWU campus center will wind up the day's activities.

Lincoln Schools' Fall Enrollment Is 29,207 Students

The Lincoln Public Schools announced its official membership for the fill semester as 29,207 students, recorded after the first four weeks of school.

Elementary enrollment totals 16,946; junior high, 6,296; and senior high, 5,965.

The totals include 279 special education students on the elementary level, 163 in junior highs and 87 in senior highs. Also counted are nine homebound students.

Sexy Posters Banned

New Delhi (AP) — Billboards showing human figures and forms have been ordered torn down in New Delhi. City officials claim the posters—particularly those showing movie actresses in sexy poses—are distracting to drivers. An exception was made for family planning advertisements.

Family Problems, Clashes Cause Of Most Job Losses

A State labor official said Wednesday a lot of jobs are lost because of family problems and personality problems.

Howard J. Watson, chief of the Nebraska Employment Service, said at a meeting of state employment counselors in Lincoln that few people lose their jobs because of lack of skills.

Clerical skills and technical skills are the ones in short supply, he said.

Police Chief's Firing At South Sioux Upheld

South Sioux City (AP)—The South Sioux City Civil Service Commission Wednesday upheld the suspension of Police Chief Fred J. Frederickson by Mayor Ernest Albertsen at a public hearing.

Immediately after the hearing attorneys for Frederickson announced a notice of appeal from the ruling would be filed in Dakota County District Court. They said the appeal would charge that the order for suspension "was not in good faith for good cause."

Insubordination Charged

The mayor had charged the chief with insubordination when the chief was suspended Oct. 3. The commission held that the city be obligated to pay Frederickson full salary for the month of October in addition to any earned vacation or sick leave pay.

It was brought out in a stipulation, agreed to by both sides, that the basis of the insubordination charge was the chief's refusal to obey an order by the mayor concerning assignment of a senior officer on the force. The chief said he felt the mayor had no authority to issue such an order.

An opinion by the legal counsel of the Nebraska League of Municipalities held that the mayor did have this right, the commission was told.

Frederickson became chief of police on Dec. 1, 1966. Capt. Conrad Lindquist has been appointed acting police chief by the mayor.

Potter Native Is Promoted

Pullman, Wash. — Dr. B. Rodney Bertramson, a native of Potter, Neb., and a graduate of the University of Nebraska, has been named as director of resident instruction in the Washington State University College of Agriculture.

Dr. B. R. Bertramson

Dr. Bertramson succeeds Dr. George F. Fischer, who served at Washington State for 33 years. Dr. Bertramson has been chairman of the Washington State Agronomy Department since 1949. His university teaching and research career includes periods of service at Colorado State University, the University of Wisconsin and Purdue University.

He served as president of the American Society of Agronomy in 1961, and was elected a Fellow of the Society and also of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. Bertramson was reared on a family wheat-livestock farm near Potter, and was in partnership with his father until earning B.S. and M.S. degrees in soils and chemistry from the University of Nebraska. He received a Ph.D. at Oregon State University in 1941.

Meat Judging Honors Go To Michigan State

Kansas City (AP) — A Michigan State University team won the 37th annual intercollegiate meat judging contest at the American Royal Livestock Show.

Kansas State University's team took second and New Mexico State was third. Others in the first 10, in order, were Oklahoma State, Texas A&M, South Dakota State, University of Nebraska, University of Florida, University of Missouri and Iowa State University.

The Michigan State team scored 3,597 out of a possible 4,000 points. Rex Payne, Michigan State, was high individual, scoring 914 out of a possible 1,000 points.

Child Presumed Drowning Victim

Sioux City, Iowa (AP) — Michael Fees, 4, tumbled into the Big Sioux River while playing Wednesday and was presumed drowned.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Fees, who moved to North Sioux City, S.D., only last week. Authorities began dragging the river for the child's body.

$223,861 Grant Okayed For Ed Service Unit 17

Alliance (AP) — A one-year federal grant of $223,861 has been approved for Educational Service Unit 17 headquartered at Alliance.

Unit administrator Hugh Pursel received notice of approval of the grant Wednesday from the U.S. Office of Education.

Pursel said the grant will assure continuence of Unit 17 services for the coming year for the two counties remianing in the unit, Box Butte and Morrill as well as the three counties—Dawes, Sioux and Sheridan—which voted out of the unit last November.

This is the second year for the grant and federal funds supplied now total $379,671.

Pickets Return To World-Herald

Omaha UPI) — Picketing resumed at the Omaha World-Herald Wednesday afternoon in the dispute between the paper and several circulation managers.

The managers quit their jobs last Friday in a dispute over firing of one of their number.

Picketing of the downtown headquarters of the Herald began Monday, stopped momentarily Tuesday and then resumed Wednesday.

The managers said the man was fired because of his attempts to organize a union local. The paper has had no comment on the walkout. It is advertising for new circulation managers to fill the vacancies.

Joslyn Expansion Program Shelved

Omaha (AP) — Trustees of Joslyn Art Museum have shelved a proposed $8.5 million long range expansion project.

John F. Merriam, board chairman, said this is a postponement and not a cancellation.

The first step in the plans called for a new parking lot, which has now been provided, air conditioning the museum, and construction of another wing which would house more gallery space and classrooms.

'67 Unicam Session Set Expense Mark

The 1967 session of the Nebraska Legislature, which shattered precedent at nearly every turn, also set a record for operating cost.

Legislative Clerk Hugo Srb reported Wednesday the taxpayer bill for the seven-month assembly, which adjourned July 22, was $527,568, or $61,126 above 1965 and more than double the cost of the last two-house legislative session in 1935.

Srb attributed the increase to new equipment purchases, higher staff cost and a 20% hike in printing expenses.

Major items included $112,641 for printing, compared to $84,032 two years ago; $61,126 for bill drafting, compared with $50,321 in 1965, and $73,226 for senatorial salaries.

Srb also said $18,772 was expended for repair and improvement of the electronic voting machine used for major roll calls, and $12,437 for the purchase of dictaphone equipment to record every word of every public hearing and general floor assembly.

The clerk also noted a record 947 bills were introduced in the session and that each bill must be printed and copies made available to the public. Six-hundred thirty-two of these were enacted into law.

Srb said he still believes that dollar for dollar, Nebraska is getting more for its lawmaking outlay than most other states.

Critics of Nebraska's one-house legislative system often point to statistics showing that the most recent sessions of the Unicameral cost nearly as much as or more than the most expensive session of the old bicameral Legislature.

But Srb contended that if the cost for 133 legislators — the number in the old bicameral—were pro-rated at the present cost for 49 senators, the budget would be from two to three times higher.

Nebraska has the only one-house Legislature in the United States. It has been in operation since 1937.

Anderson Apparent Low On 15th St. Project Bids

M. W. Anderson Construction Co. was the apparent low bidder Wednesday for work in connection with the 15th St. beautification project.

The Anderson firm bid $333,685, followed by Olson Construction Co., $349,208, and Kingery Construction at $389,662.

Director of Parks and Recreation Jim Ager said the bids ran close to estimates on the project which is to be partially funded with federal money.

Mall Concept

The firm awarded the contract will follow specifications of the mall concept designed by the Lincoln firm of Clark and Enersen, Olsson, Burroughs and Thomsen.

This includes construction of reflecting pools and fountains and surfacing the pedestrian area on 15th in the blocks between K and M and P to R.

The contract does not call for resurfacing 15th in the intervening blocks, according to Ager.

Suit Filed

A suit against the city has been filed in Lancaster District Court by Lincolnite Lloyd Hendricks asking for a temporary injunction to stop construction of the mall.

A hearing on the injunction is scheduled for Monday, the city legal department said.

The department said a contract will be awarded by next Wednesday, "depending on what the court does."

Although the 15th St. mall was not a specific budget item for fiscal 1967-68, city officials said sufficient money to finance it is available.

Federal participation amounts to approximately $39,000. The remainder will be paid from abutting property assessments, street construction funds and private trusts.

"The distribution has not been determined," Ager said.

Busy Slate For NWU On Friday

Friday marks one of the busiest days this fall for Nebraska Wesleyan University.

The schedule for the day includes a Board of Trustees meeting, Distinguished Citizen Awards Convocation, Parents' Day convocation, dedication of Centennial Hall and a football game and first home appearance of the NWU Pride-of-the-Plainsman Marching Band.

Chairman Dale Te Kolste will convene the Board of Trustees for an 8:30 a.m. meeting. The Distinguished Citizen Awards Convocation is scheduled for 10:00 a.m.

A Parents' Convocation, featuring the NWU Marching Band and a presentation by President Vance D. Rogers, is set for 3:00 p.m. in the Auditorium-Fine Arts Center.

Centennial Hall, a 166-bed, air-conditioned facility that opened this fall, will be dedicated at 4:30 p.m. in the courtyard in front of the building. An open house is planned Sunday, Nov. 5.

The Plainsman football team meets Missouri Valley in a Parents' Day contest at 7:30 p.m. in O. N. Magee Stadium. Parents, friends faculty and students are invited to a coffee in the Campus Center after the game.

C. Hanson Is Selected For Church Board

Charles M. Hanson was elected executive board secretary for the Central Church of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Wednesday evening at the church's annual business meeting.

Also elected to offices on the executive board were Melvin L. Brown, treasurer; Derril A. Schmidt, financial secretary, and Richard L. Nealy, missionary treasurer.

Named as elders were John Helzer, the Rev. Gail Ingwerson, David J. Stavland and John Z. Treanor. Newly elected deacons include Albert V. Nance, Winfield J. Mumm, Dr. S.T. Thierstein and Wallace Gake.

The annual financial report showed a budget increase every year for the last five years, with general fund budgeting up 17% over last year, church officials said. The 1966 pledge to the International Missionary effort bypassed the projected $17,224.

In the last year and a half the Central Church had purchased an additional $63,000 in property, including all of the lots between 28th and 29th streets facing 'O' Street, officials reported.

Floor Tile Taken From City Church

Lincoln police received a belated report Wednesday that someone had entered the Immanuel Lutheran Church, 2001 S. 11th, and carried away approximately $200 worth of floor tile and adhesive, police said.

Church officials told police that no one had checked on the tile for at least "a week and more." Police said there was no sign of a forced entry.

Poor 'Penalized' In Open Housing Push

. . . REAL ESTATE OFFICER SAYS

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

John C. Williamson of Washington, D.C., who will address the Nebraska Real Estate Association's 50th anniversary convention Thursday on the urban crisis and mortgage market, contends that "the drive for forced housing penalizes the poor, because it involves housing programs in civil rights controversy."

In prepared remarks Williamson, director of governmental relations for the National Association of Real Estate Boards, further predicted that "Congress will not pass a federal open occupancy law either this year or next year.

"Whether such a law might some day become a reality will depend on future congressional elections," he said.

'Mired Down'

Williamson maintains that "all of the existing housing programs for low-income families have become mired down by the defining of them in terms of racial integration."

"Thus," he said, "the myth that forced housing laws bring better housing to the Negro poor comforts the liberals but victimizes the Negro masses.

He noted that the U.S. Supreme Court this term will rule on an appeal from the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals involving discrimination in the refusal of a builder to sell a home to a Negro couple in St. Louis, Mo. No state or local fair housing was involved.

Far-Reaching

Should the Supreme Court overrule the circuit court, which denied relief for the petitioner, the decision will prove more far-reaching than even the school desegregation cases of 1954, Williamson said.

Turning to home financing, Williamson predicted that "the crisis which plagued the residential mortgage market in 1966 will recur with disrupting frequency unless the Congress approves certain measures recommended by the real estate industry."

He said realtors have joined homebuilders in a drive to allow the Federal National Mortgage Association to "tap more of the pension and retirement funds which today represent the largest single source of new money."

Top Speakers

The presidents of two national real estate organizations will be among the top speakers at the convention which started Wednesday.

More than 500 Nebraska real estate men and their guests are attending the event.

Other convention highlights:

—Thursday, 12:15 p.m., address by Richard B. Morris, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, on changing concepts in real estate.

—Thursday, 2:15 p.m., address by John L. Currell, president of the National Association of Farm and Land Brokers, on "Land Boom, 1967-76."

—Friday, 12:15 p.m., presentation of the 1967 "Realtor of the Year" award.

Father Of Two Boys Killed In Bus-Train Mishap Sues

Omaha (AP) — The father of two of the children killed in the Oct. 2 school bus-train collision near Waterloo filed two lawsuits asking more than $120,000 Wednesday.

Dwight L. Clayton of Waterloo filed the suits against the Union Pacific Railroad Company, its engineer, Glen D. Peterson and the school bus driver, Thomas McMahon.

The suit asked $61,376 in the death of Ronald Clayton, 12, and $61,336 in the death of David Clayton, 9.

The petitions claimed that the Union Pacific "carelessly maintained" the crossing and the train, the engineer failed to keep a proper lookout, the train's speed was "greater than was reasonable and safe" and the whistle was not blown. The companion petitions claimed McMahon didn't keep the bus under control and didn't keep a proper lookout.

Reed Resigns From Lincoln Community Playhouse Post

Lincoln Community Playhouse director Roland Reed presented his resignation to the Playhouse board of directors Tuesday.

Reed, who has been Playhouse director five years, will take a similar position at the Clearwater Little Theater in Clearwater, Fla. His resignation is effective June 1968.

"I regret leaving especially at the brink of a new theater being built and the point at which the Playhouse is coming into its own public recognition," Reed said.

Board president Sam Van Pelt said he is sorry to lose "such a fine person and director."

Van Pelt said the board is appreciative that Reed gave notice this far in advance and he will appoint a committee next week to begin screening applicants for the director's position.

Show Held Over

The Lincoln Community Playhouse's current production, "Guys and Dolls," has been held over for two Thursday performances.

Extra shows will be at 8:30 p.m. Thursday and Oct. 26.

From California On To New York In A Rowboat?

Redondo Beach, Calif. (AP)— Two lifeguards took off in a 20-foot rowboat Wednesday on a 9,000-mile trip to New York City.

Larry Remmers, 20, and Craig South, 19, left in a self-bailing racing dory which has no sails or motor — just four oars, a marine radio receiver, a compass and a packet of charts.

They hope to row an average of 30 miles daily, and reach New York within a year, by way of the Panama Canal.

Queen Aspirant, 35, Mom, Passes Out Pieces Of Pie

Santa Monica, Calif. (AP) — Norma Rogers passed out wedges of apple pie Wednesday in her campaign to be elected Santa Monica City College homecoming queen.

"It's very difficult," she explained, "to beat motherhood and apple pie."

Mrs. Rogers, mother of two, is 35. She first took it as a joke when the campus Young Republican Club sponsored her, then began taking her candidacy more seriously.

Boxing Brings Riots

Bangkok, Thailand (AP)—The intercollegiate boxing season brought a rash of rioting that had to be put down by armed police, so the Thai government department of physical education has issued four rules that must be "strictly adhered to": competitors must be briefed on proper sporting etiquette, spectators must not carry weapons, no booing is allowed and all cheering "must be genuine."

Judge Convinced Marijuana Sham, Not A Sacrament

Los Angeles (AP) — A judge convicted hippie leader Gridley Lorimer Wright Wednesday of marijuana possession and called him a "false prophet."

Wright's claim that marijuana smoking is a religious sacrament is a "sham," said Superior Judge Mark Brandler.

The court ordered the former deputy county probation officer jailed immediately when he wouldn't promise not to smoke or possess marijuana before being sentenced Nov. 22.

Hastings Hospital Head Gets Leave

Dr. Carl Gouldman, acting director of the Hastings State Hospital, will go on leave Oct. 31 for personal reasons, Dr. Robert Osborne, deputy director for medical services in the state institutions department, reported Wednesday.

Dr. Osborne said that Dr. John Torghele, acting clinical director, will be executive administrative officer during Dr. Gouldman's absence.

Electric Car Ruled Out As Air's Saver

Washington (AP) — A government advisory panel Wednesday ruled out the electric car as an immediate solution to the nation's air pollution problem and suggested a five-year, $60-million federal program to help develop cleaner vehicles.

It said a piston type steam engine of advanced design potentially offers a satisfactory alternative to the present gasoline-burning automobile but the panel didn't specifically advocate development and production of such a vehicle.

The recommendation was one of 16 outlined by the panel on electrically powered vehicles as a minimum program to meet what it called the serious threat of air pollution.

Automobile Blamed

It blamed the automobile for 60.6% of the nation's air pollution and called for a national air quality goal, strict standards on automobile exhausts, further government research, and federal regulation of the amount of lead which may be added to gasoline.

The panel said development of an electric car is not feasible economically in the present state of technology but research indicates significant advances for the future.

It will be at least a decade, however, the panel added, before the new technology can be developed, prepared for commercial use and installed in a significant number of vehicles.

Turbines Rejected

The panel rejected gas turbines as a substitute for existing auto engines but said they are reasonable alternatives to gasoline and diesel truck, trains and buses.

The panel was originally set up by the Commerce Department last January to look into the future of the electric car but the scope of the inquiry was broadened to include air pollution.

The $60-million federal program it proposed would help develop new energy sources for vehicles, propulsion systems, emission control devices, special purpose city cars, and general purpose vehicles.

Police Break Up Sit-In Vietnam, Draft Protests

By United Press International

Police broke up sit-ins by anti-Vietnam war and anti-draft demonstrators Wednesday at the University of Wisconsin and an Oakland, Calif., induction center.

About 65 persons were injured at Madison, Wis., when club-swinging police waded into 150 arm-locked sit-inners in the Commerce Building on the university campus. A few protesters were arrested.

At Oakland, flying-wedges of helmeted police swept through an estimated 2,500 chanting demonstrators. Sixty-five persons, including five juveniles, were taken into custody, boosting the three-day arrest total at the northern California induction center to 212.

3rd Day Of Protests

The outbreaks punctuated the third day of a scheduled weeklong nationwide round of protests against the war and the draft.

There were demonstrations at several other cities — including Chicago, Los Angeles and Buffalo, N.Y.— but none erupted into violence like those at Madison and Oakland.

The University of Wisconsin sit-in was a protest against job interviews by representatives of Dow Chemical Co., maker of napalm for the Vietnam war. A Dow spokesman said that despite the outbreak, company recruiters had no plans to leave the campus.

"We feel making napalm for the government is our duty," the spokesman said.

Students were led from the building with blood streaming from their heads after police moved in on them when they balked at leaving peacefully.

Oakland protest leaders instructed pickets in advance to fall back to avoid a repetition of Tuesday's eruption when police used billy clubs and fired tear gas cans and were assaulted in turn by chunks of concrete.

A few of the sit-ins at Oakland were carried to police vans Wednesday after they went limp. A few pickets burned what they said were their draft cards.

In Chicago, there was shoving and squabbling when police forced a group of protesting women out of the entrance of a Loop induction center. Some women booed when one arriving inductee shouted: "I'm ready to go fight in Vietnam. I'll serve my country."

'Mail Subsidy' Of Magazines, Papers Hit By Cunningham

Washington (UPI) — Newspapers and magazines benefit from a "secret" mail subsidy they are fighting to retain, according to Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb.

"It is not fair to the nation's taxpayers," he said in remarks prepared for the Congressional Record published Wednesday.

Cunningham contended third class advertising mail, the "junk" mail often addressed only to "occupant," pays 100% of its cost of delivery, compared to 29% of cost paid by magazines and newspapers.

(According to the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, it is impossible to determine the true cost of delivering the various classes of mail. Under the allocated costs, the bookkeeping formula, it is calculated newspapers and magazines pay 23.3% of the actual delivery costs, and advertising mail 28.8% . . . and that under the higher rates proposed in a House-passed bill, the percentages will be 28.8 and 82.4, respectively.)

Cunningham said Congress properly decided, when the country was young, newspapers should be given low postage rates in the interests of keeping the nation informed. But the need for this has passed, he said.

"The newspapers of today are no longer poor and struggling," he said. "They are rich and powerful. In addition they are no longer the only source of news. Radio and television are faster and some say better.

"Despite these changes, newspapers with page after page of rich advertising revenue continue to fight for their secret mail subsidy."

Cunningham also criticized the "red tag treatment" he said is given newspapers, providing them the same priority handling as is given the average first class letter.

"Rich, 'holier than thou' newspapers and magazines are still being subsidized and they quietly support our nation's secret subsidy or what I call the big mail rate newspaper steal," he said.

Connecticut Man In Hospital After Methedrine Bout

A 23-year-old Connecticut man was under observation in a Lincoln hospital Wednesday with superficial throat wounds incurred as a result of a bout with methedrine, an hallucinogenic drug.

The Lincoln Police Department said the slight wounds were apparently caused by a razor.

Police reports stated the man had admitted to taking methedrine tablets "for about three days" and had been "hallucinating the entire time," according to friends.

The youth told police he obtained six to eight pills for $4 from an unnamed white male "with long, black hair" whom he had seen on several occasions at the Nebraska Union and a local book store.

Open House Planned

Park Elementary School will hold an open house Friday evening for parents and patrons to visit the classrooms, 7-8 p.m., and cafeteria, 6:30-8:30 p.m.

Walton Co. Has Low Bid On Road At Dental College

Bids for the construction of a perimeter road surrounding the new Dental College building at the University of Nebraska East Campus were opened Wednesday at the office of the director of special business services.

The apparent low bidder was Walton Construction Co. of Lincoln, with a bid of $17,885. A completion date on the project was not disclosed.

Brisk days around here. I nicked myself while shaving. But I stuck paper on it and said quietly:

A house is like a war. You never know where the next attack is coming from.

The night patrol: "Wake up! Do you smell something burning?"

The hand-to-hand combat: "Johnny pinched me!"

A drawer has been pulled out and used as a boat. A pretend boat.

This knocked the bottom out of it. "Lost with all hands. Toll the bell at Lloyd's."

"How the ——. I mean how should I know how to fix it? Call somebody," I said.

Well, it seems a neighbor, a smart fellow, fixes everything in their house.

"Can't you just get some nails and things?" asked the household critic. (She can't even wind a clock!)

Tell me, how come a dishwasher can change its cycle? Start drying first and covering everything with soap at the finish?

Such practical matters were never taught us in school.

I got such things as the relation of "Y" to "X." And how "A square" was square as Jack the bear.

But never a blooming line on how to change a fuse in a fuse box.

Nobody showed me how to change a washer — a thing that comes up time after time in modern man's standing battle against erosion.

Nor what to do when you hear a funny "fzzzzzz" in the TV.

I just said: "Stand back, sergeant. I'll throw myself on the grenade!" (Then I got a broom handle and knocked the plug out of the wall.)

If you build your scatter on a hillside, the water from the sprinkler will run to the bottom. It makes nice, soft, dirty mud where the children's swings are.

It scarcely dampens the garden enroute.

The water bills are enormous in the summer.

In the winter, the free rain runs uphill. It runs into the garage. And everything mildews.

Man against nature is a battle. Man against the house is vicious — you are bugging yourself.

The more labor saving devices you put in, the more you labor keeping them going. I have spent more time on an electric toothbrush than dentists spend in a lifetime of practice.

She said: "I think we should take it back and complain."

I only said sternly: "I'd like to volunteer for that mission, general." (Behind the enemy lines.)

Production And Inventory Control Seminar Slated

About 40 Nebraska busInessmen are scheduled to attend a Production and Inventory Control Seminar Oct. 23-24 at the University of Nebraska Center.

The seminar is one of a number of technical programs sponsored each year by the Industrial Research and Information Service of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development and has been arranged in cooperation with the department of mechanical engineering at the university.

The program will be presented by Dr. Wolter J. Fabrycky, a professor of industrial engineering at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Dr. Fabrycky is an authority in the field of production and inventory control. Dr. M. H. Schneider, associate professor of mechanical engineering at the university, will preside at the seminar.

Tiedje Named To Who's Who

Larry Tiedje, Nebraska Wesleyan University senior, has been named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Tiedje, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Tiedje, Arapahoe, was inadvertently left off the original story concerning Who's Who nominations.

Miss Denise Jane DeVere

Of interest this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. V. P. DeVere of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Denise Jane, to Stephen James Exon, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Exon.

The wedding will take place on Wednesday, Dec. 20.

Miss DeVere is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Exon now is attending Nebraska Wesleyan University.

town talk

Never let it be said that Cornhusker fans aren't loyal whether its win, lose or draw for their favorite football team. This weekend is to be a gala one all over town, and this morning we have more names to add to a guest list that is growing by leaps and bounds.

Arriving today from San Marino, Calif., will be Mr. and Mrs. Roger Stewart who will be the house guests of Mr. Stewart's mother, Mrs. Don Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart are enroute to Bermuda, but timed things just right to be in Lincoln for a football weekend. Needless to say the visitors from the west coast will be kept busy with numerous informal courtesies.

Friday arrivals will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cunningham of New York City, who are to remain until Monday as the guests of Mr. Cunningham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cunningham. We might add that Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham will arrive on the same day—but not from the same starting point—and not at the same time. Mrs. Cunningham will fly from New York City, and Mr. Cunningham from Minneapolis, Minn., where he has been on a business trip for NYU. Mr. Cunningham, as everyone knows, is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and will receive his degree in law from New York University in June.

But we have just scratched the surface of the guests who will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cunningham during the approaching weekend. Their son, John Cunningham, a student at Washington University in St. Louis, and two of his Phi Delta Theta fraternity brothers, 'Budge' Lewis of Tulsa, Okla., and Tom Holley of St. Louis, also are arriving on Friday.

Garden Club Officers Re-Elected

At the annual dinner and business meeting of the Garden Club of Lincoln, held last week at the Colonial Inn, all club officers were re-elected for the coming year.

The executives are Mrs. Leslie C. Brehm, president; Mrs. Jack Rodgers, first vice president; Mrs. Glen Litzenberg, second vice president; Mrs. A. E. Moomaw, corresponding secretary; Miss Geneva Wheeler, recording secretary; and Elton Lux, treasurer.

Harvest Party Opens Club Year

An autumn harvest decor made it a sparkling October evening indoors as well as out, Tuesday evening, when the Fifty-Fifty Club members held their first dinner-dance of the fall at the Hotel Lincoln.

Seated (left to right) are Mrs. Hollis Askey and Dr. Askey, and Mrs. Floyd Bridges and Mr. Bridges, who served as co-chairmen for the party, and standing (from the left) are committee members, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Feese, Mrs. Myron Julian and Mr. Julian, and Mrs. Herb Voerster and Mr. Voerster. Committee members not pictured are Mr. and Mrs. Dwight McVicker.

NFWC District Convention

Mrs. Fred C. Naber of Syracuse, president of District I of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs, will preside at the annual fall convention of the district, to be held Tuesday, at the Armory in Auburn.

Following registration at 9:30 o'clock, Mrs. L. B. Myers of York, state first vice president, will address the club delegates, and a talk on public welfare will be given by Allen McGrary.

Luncheon speaker will be Mrs. Robert Rake of Omaha, state director of juniors, and the state federation president, Miss Ruth Ebmeier of Laurel, will speak at the afternoon session, which also will include a talk by Dan J. Casey of the Nebraska State Patrol.

An evening banquet will conclude the all-day convention, and the featured speaker will be Mrs. George W. Mechling of Lincoln, past state president, who will tell of the activities of Radio Free Europe.

CHOW WOW EGGS

(New way to scramble eggs—with bean sprouts)

4 eggs
½ cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
1 can La Choy Bean Sprouts, drained
1 tsp. La Choy Soy Sauce (butter for cooking)

Melt butter over low heat and evenly coat the skillet. Whip eggs with a fork till frothy. Then add milk, salt, soy sauce and drained bean sprouts. Stir lightly again and pour into skillet. Stir gently as mixture starts setting. When lightly browned on bottom, slide onto heated platter and cut into wedges. Sprinkle with hot pepper sauce for more Wow!

FOOD
so different--and good

Now that the door is closed to cool, autumn temperatures, fill your kitchen with the welcome scent of home-baked muffins. The aroma of chicken soup muffins quickly spreads the word that something tasty is in the oven.

The inviting unusual flavor of the muffins comes easily from a can of condensed cream of chicken soup and poultry seasoning. Chopped fresh parsley or dried parsley scatters appetizing bits of color through the hot breads. Wonderful with salads and casserole dishes — chicken soup muffins make an ordinary meal a special meal.

CHICKEN LICKIN' MUFFINS
16 muffins

- 3 cups sifted enriched flour
- 11 tablespoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 6 tablespoons sugar
- ¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 1 tablespoon parsley
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1 can (10½ oz.) condensed cream of chicken soup
- ½ cup water
- ¼ cup oil

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, sugar and poultry seasoning. Stir in parsley. Combine beaten egg, soup, water and oil. Add liquid ingredients to flour mixture; stir only until flour is moistened. Fill greased muffin pans 2-3 full. Bake in preheated 425 degree oven, 20 to 25 minutes.

If you don't sift and in the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into a one-cup dry measure, level off, then remove two level tablespoonfuls per cup, according to USDA recommendations.

NOTE: If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

Yummy 'Yummies'

Here is a delicious snack that will be snatched up by grown-ups as quickly as by youngsters. Called "date yummies," these delectable pastry treats are as good to eat as they are good for you.

To make a tempting batch of "date yummies," you'll need:

- ½ cup (1 stick) butter
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- ½ cup chopped pecans
- 1 package (8 ounces) imported diced dates
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cut butter into flour and sugar until mixture resembles coarse meal. Press into bottom of 9x12 pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes, or until light brown.

Beat eggs well and mix in remaining ingredients. Pour over baked mixture and spread carefully with fork. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes, until crust is formed and mixture is firm. Cut into squares while warm.

The Beloved Shrimp

America's favorite seafood, shrimp, also happens to be America's favorite before-dinner appetizer. It may have had its before-dinner launching as a shrimp cocktail, but today shrimp is far from restricted to being chopped and served in a cocktail sauce. It more often makes its before-dinner appearance in the living room, beautifully cooked and offered in a sparkling crystal bowl with sauce on the side.

MARINATED SHRIMP

- 2 pounds shrimp, fresh or frozen, or 1 (1-pound) bar or package frozen peeled and deveined shrimp
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons sherry
- ⅛ teaspoon ground clove
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 clove garlic
- ⅔ cup salad oil
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- ½ cup blanched, halved almonds

Clean shrimp, if necessary. If shrimp are frozen, let thaw on paper toweling to absorb the moisture. Mix lemon juice, 1 tablespoon of the sherry, clove, salt, garlic and oil. Pour over shrimp and let stand in refrigerator for at least 1 hour. In a large skillet, melt butter. Add almonds and cook until lightly browned. Drain shrimp, reserving marinade. Add shrimp to skillet, and cook until pink and firm (about 7 to 10 minutes). Transfer shrimp and almonds to chafing dish. Pour marinade into skillet, bring to a boil and add remaining 1 tablespoon of sherry. Pour over shrimp in chafing dish. Serve hot as a cocktail-time snack. Makes 6 servings.

Yankee Fish Frankfurters Make Big Hit

Cologne, Germany — Curious crowds lining up for fish frankfurters, chili dishes and honey on bread testify that the United States exhibit has become one of the major attractions at this year's International Food Fair here.

A demonstration kitchen at the American stand is using up its stock of canned foods at record speed to show West German housewives and trade people the variety of American cooking.

The American exhibit, the biggest ever at an international food fair, occupies 20,000 square feet. It is a joint effort of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and leading U.S. food producers. The American exhibitors are competing with rival exhibitors from 65 nations and more than a thousand representatives of the West German food industry.

For the affluent West Germans, who have lately developed a keen interest in foreign delicacies, the vast fair is an excellent opportunity to compare the offerings of many lands. Most Germans do so with thoroughness, not missing one free bite or gulp.

The American exhibit is just a stone's throw from the Soviet stand, enabling visitors to sample Florida orange juice right after Kvass, the thin, sour Russian beer, or vice versa.

Mrs. Sally M. Cole, who heads the American demonstration kitchen, expects that the fish frankfurters, a novelty in Germany, will become popular with German housewives who are tired of their children's eternal complaints about "so many bones" in ordinary fish dishes.

The American demonstration kitchen serves different samples every day, each intended to demonstrate the versatile use of such processed foodstuffs as gravy mixes, or dehydrated mashed potatoes.

The American exhibit's chief feature — "a gourmet's stroll through the United States" — lures visitors with appetizing displays, including the state of Maine's frozen shrimp, whiting, minna, turkeys and frozen pies from Virginia.

Other states taking part in the show are Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Florida, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin, Mississippi, and New York State.

Victorian Summer '68

On these crisp, chilly mornings a swim suit is about the last thing on anyone's mind. But summer will come — it always does, and we have no reason to believe that it won't be around in 1968.

But keep your eye on next summer's swim suit — It's gone Victorian with that 'all-covered-up' look. At least that is what Doris Klein AP fashion writer, tells us, and she should know. She is doing the fashion shows where swim suits are designed — California.

Here is what she has to say:

It won't be much fun for men at the beach next summer. The ladies will be all covered up — at least to start with.

Every bathing suit that California's designers have created for 1968 has its own matching cover-up.

The three-piece swim suit was the star of the preview of next year's resort wear shown Tuesday to the nation's fashion editors by California fashion creators.

The suits, both bikinis and one-piece style, were covered by everything from puffed sleeves to Victorian collars edged in lace, little boy shorts, swim slips, burnooses, kaftans, sarong skirts, military jackets and tunics.

Underneath, were the bikinis, cut as low as the law allows.

And there was new hope for the woman without a stunning figure.

Cole of California came out with a swim shift which hangs from neck to thigh.

Elisabeth Stewart and Catalina designed tunics and swim dresses that looked like mini-slips, with matching pants underneath, for women with fuller figures.

There was the usual daring look for the girl who has everything — a backless binkini designed by Catalina and held on only by two tiny straps over each shoulder.

Fabrics ranged from a new clinging jersey called doeskin to textured knits, and open-slitted knits lined in nude fabric.

For teen-agers, Lanz introduced its line which catered to the junior figure-brief bikinis and bare-back one-piece naillots.

Series

The first of its winter series of travel film programs was presented by the Women's Division of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce last Saturday evening.

Rita's Mailbox

We have been swamped with requests for the directions for making Pheasant Hats. Pheasant hunting time is just around the corner, so it is apropo that we print these instructions at this time. Thank you Mrs. W. M. M., of Lincoln, for sending them to us.

Dear Rita: You will want as clean and unsoiled birds as possible. To take the skin off, you cut off the wings, feet, and the head above the white ring or collar.

There is a little trick to curing the skin. Stretch it out, feather side down on a board, pull taut and tack. Now pour salt generously over the flesh side.

Let the treated skin stay at least 48 hours, if possible, cure it a week. Then treat the feathers with a moth-proofer spray. When the skin is ready, cut off the feathers and glue them on pads.

A second way to do it is to skin the bird, then stretch the skin on a board. Leave near open window. Use mixture of equal parts of salt peter and boric acid powder.

Cover skin with this mixture, repeating each day for a week. Shake off salt mixture before adding fresh mixture each day.

This is yet a third way of doing this. Skin bird, peeling skin from breast around back and legs, coming forward from tail to neck, like pulling off a pullover sweater.

Choose the part of the skin that is best for your hat. Cut it to the size of your headband.

Sprinkle the skin generously with borax, and scrape with a knife, using the borax to soak up the grease. Scrape with the grain of the feather tracks, until all of the yellow grease and fleshy epidermis is removed.

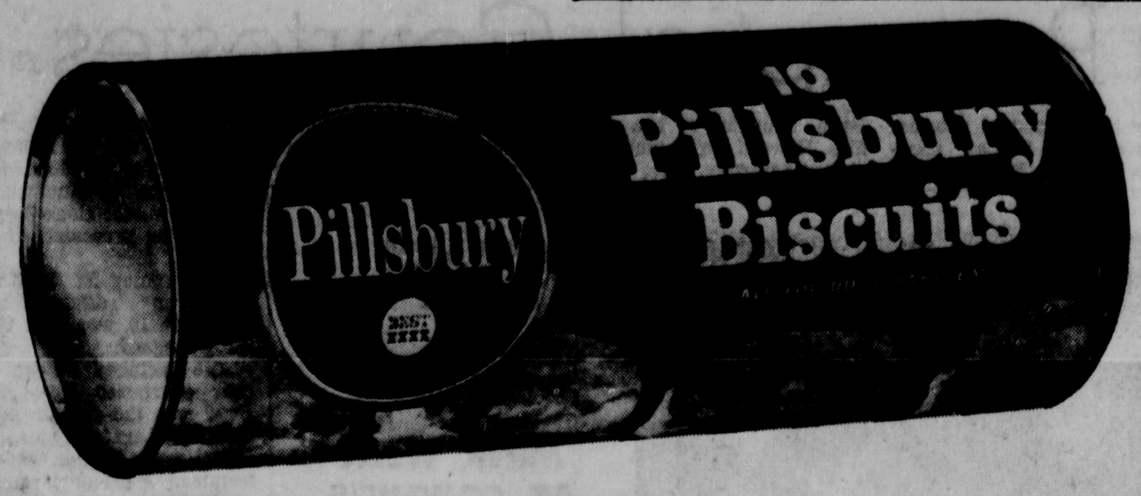

Wash in strong detergent solution and dry with hand dryer or blower attachment of your vacuum cleaner, blowing against grain of feathers. Dry until feathers are fluffy and completely dry. Your hair dryer will be fine for this.

Paint the skin side with an arsenic solution that is made by adding so much arsenic of lead that water cannot absorb anymore. Be sure to throw the arsenic away. It is deadly poisonous.

Let the arsenic solution soak into the skin for nearly two hours. If skin becomes dry, paint again with the arsenic solution. This will soften the skin. If you let the solution soak into the skin, it moth proofs the skin. The skin must be damp enough to be flexible but not too wet because then the glue will not adhere.

Glue skin to headband. Elmer's glue is recommended. While the skin is damp adjust the feathers and glue in place, if necessary.

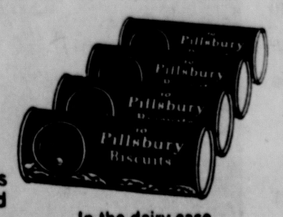

I found that trying to locate and buy arsenic was quite a choice since it is poison. So I finally just pulled all the feathers out of the skin and sorted them in boxes. They are still good after several years. I didn't treat them in any way. Now I use them for making feather flowers. I did make a hat also. I just glued the feathers onto a hat frame. Mrs. W. M. M., Lincoln.

BLT Tickles took Arnold Nodiff back to Mike's Fountain.

A. Nodiff, tough man, liver and breather of the practical rule of life—the past is past, so forget it—told us the story.

There he was. Munching on a bunch of BLT Tickles. Loving their bacon-lettuce-and-tomato taste dearly.

When, out of Nowhere, his mind's eye saw a roly-poly kid. Him, by golly! At Mike's Fountain. Where you got BLT sandwiches that were exploding with bacon and mayonnaise.

Ho ho, what he used to do to get on that stool. Because the stool was so high and he was so short, he'd have to run. Then, lunge. Like a mad cat onto the seat.....

That's when Reality struck.

Now back in the real world, he couldn't understand. What had made him, Tough Man, sentimentalize like that?

Then, POW! It hit him: BLT Sandwiches. BLT Tickles.

That had to be it! BLT Tickles were so BLT-y they forced him to remember the old days.

Don't get us wrong. We're not saying, Eat BLT Tickles and you'll have an A. Nodiff experience. We use his case to alert you people who are unhappy with today's skimpy flavored snack crackers that now there's a very BLT BLT cracker in the world.

BLT Tickles come in nifty "B", "L" and "T" shapes. And on the back of every box are three special recipes.

And, so you can switch off once in awhile, get Onion Funions, Sausage Scrambles and Chicken Lickens, too. Three other very, very flavored snack crackers Keebler makes.

Prenuptial Courtesies

To be honored at a bridal courtesy on Sunday afternoon will be Miss Carolyn Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Boyd, who has chosen Saturday, Nov. 4, for her marriage to Mike White.

Entertaining for the soon-to-be bride will be Miss Ann Maly and Miss Judy Zangari, who will be hostesses at the home of Miss Maly. During the informal party, an "around-the-clock" shower will be presented to the honoree.

Entertaining for the bride-elect on Tuesday evening, Oct. 10, was Mrs. Warren Oppegard.

Also included among recent courtesies for Miss Boyd was the shower given by Mrs. Larry Snyder and Mrs. Harvey Traudt, who entertained a group of guests at the home of Mrs. Snyder.

For her wedding, which will take place at the First Christian Church, Miss Boyd has named her sister, Miss Connie Boyd, as her honor attendant. Mrs. Larry Snyder will be the matron of honor, and the bridesmaid will be Miss Nancy Kloke of Beatrice. Miss Tracy Traudt and Miss Tammy Traudt will be the flower girls, and ringbearer will be Bryan Schneider of Ceresco.

Lighting the candles for the 7:30 o'clock evening service will be Miss Joyce Knippelmeyer and Miss Carol Kreiger.

Floyd Nieswanger will serve Mr. White as best man, and the groomsmen will be Gary Cerny and Max Jensen. Seating the guests will be Dwayne Schneider of Ceresco, and Jim Dormer.

A prenuptial courtesy on Thursday evening will honor Miss Ruth Kowalski, who will become the bride of Lt. Elliott T. Sagehorn, Ft. Sill, Okla., on Saturday, Nov. 4.

Honoring the bride-elect will be Mrs. Gale Anthony who will be hostess at a bridal shower at her home. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Stephen Butcher and Miss Lida Tilley.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Schamp of Elyria, the bride-to-be has chosen her sister, Mrs. Roger Owens as her matron of honor for the ceremony, which will be solemnized at Blessed Sacrament Church. Miss Maxine Schamp will attend her sister as bridesmaid.

Serving Lt. Sagehorn as best man will be Don Moes, and the groomsmen will be Douglas Hofeldt, Bill Glover and Norman Kalvoda.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, Lt. Sagehorn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore D. Sagehorn. The bride-to-be is a graduate of Lincoln General Hospital School of Nursing.

Gay Time At Spanish Embassy

(c) New York Times News Service

Washington — Oscar De La Renta, this year's Coty American Fashion Critics awards winner, brought his current collection to the Spanish Embassy.

His clothes — opulent brocades and velvets, shimmering with jewels for evening and thigh high boots, capes and fur-trimmed coats for day — made most of the other dresses in the room Friday night look as if they were last year's, at least.

For some of the women in the black tie crowd of 300 who paid $50 a piece to see the clothes (worn with Kenneth Lane earrings), eat omelets at one a.m. and dance, the collection was a veritable care package.

"I thought the black with criss-crossed rhinestone straps was divine, I can't wait to order it," said Mrs. Arthur Gardner, daughter-in-law of the late ambassador to Cuba. She added, "the boots are divine but nobody's going to wear those shorts with them." Mrs. Gardner was wearing an Oscar De La Renta, but last year's. "It's the least I could do," she said.

She did better than most. There were few other De La Renta's in the room. Even the hostess, the Marquesa De Merry Del Val, wife of the Spanish Ambassador, was faithful to her favorite designer, Rodriguez, and wore a green beaded gown of his.

Mrs. Thomas Cushing, wife of a New York banker, was outfitted in a white high-waisted De La Renta, hemmed in ostrich, with white stockings, white shoes, a white ruffle at the neck and a lot of little curls.

Lynda Bird Johnson, the engaged daughter of the President, wore a simple heavy, pale blue silk, and came so fashionably late (11:35 p.m.) that she would have missed the show had it started on time. As it was, she and her fiance, Marine Capt. Charles Robb, only missed five minutes.

Once the show got under way, even the men enjoyed it, particularly Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity. His wife was in a white Balenciaga-out-of-Ohrbachs, with a bare midriff, trimmed in jewels. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward Kennedy, wife of the Democratic senator from Massachusetts, wore a short white dress by no one in particular that almost looked like a daytime cocktail dress, except that it was off the shoulder.

Mrs. Oates Leiter, a Washington hostess, came with Kenneth Lane, although she was not wearing his earrings.

The jewelry designer, one of her dinner guests, stood by and watched some of the women go by in his frankly fake, gloppy earrings and said he hoped they wouldn't become posse. After all, he said, "there will always be ears."

Lane is perhaps the only man who can make a woman feel guilty about wearing the real thing. Mrs. Nicholas Arroyo, wife of the former Ambassador from Cuba, was wearing an emerald green dress of "no vintage" and matching emerald earrings. "They're real. Isn't that awful?" she said.

Mrs. Whitney Young was one of several women favored with a kiss from Le La Renta, the tall, handsome designer. She said, "Here I am greeting you in my paper raincoat." The loudly striped paper coat came off to reveal an apricot dress, but she wouldn't reveal who made it.

Mrs. David Ginsberg, wife of a Washington lawyer, almost always wears Dior and last night was no exception. She was in one of the most chic gowns, a midnight blue satin banded in white. The skirt was knee length in front and dipped to the floor in back.

Fashion Decree—Dark Hose

By ENID NEMY
(c) New York Times News Service

New York — The legs that are standing up to be counted in fashion this season are sheathed in dark stockings. The dark leg look hasn't yet reached major proportions. It is merely a contender, waiting to mount its all-out offensive with the advent of cold weather and increased store stocks.

But the women who start trends, or can spot one when it is still around the corner, are busy now scooping up dark stockings as though they were peanuts at a cocktail party.

The new darks aren't even kissin' cousins of anything seen in the past. They are merely reminiscent. The opaques, chosen by Lynda Bird Johnson for a recent trip to Texas, allow a trace of the leg underneath to shine through, and the newest dark sheers have abandoned the powdery matte finish in favor of glistening wet look.

There are dark fishnets (Mrs. John F. Kennedy selected black to wear with a white dress) and lattice textures, and Rudi Gernreich has designed dark stockings that stripe the legs in two textures of the same color. There are also flower and diamond patterns and a delicate point d'esprit for dressed-up evenings.

"Black and brown are going absolutely crazy," said Dorothy Reeves, a hosiery buyer here. "We put them in stock, turn around and they are gone." She plans to add dark gray and navy blue.

Marilyn Hammer, another hosiery buyer here, said black and brown are selling in sheer and opague, and they are just as popular in panty hose."

The mills that produce stockings are finding what they call a "marked interest" in dark stockings, but many of them believe that there will be a period of peaceful co-existence between light hose and the darker tones.

Miss Scott believes that dark stockings won't displace the lighter cosmetic colors but will round out the picture.

Park Manor Bishop Heights Kessler Heights in the suburban areas

The population of Lincoln has grown considerably during the past few days, as Cornhusker supporters (and members of the loyal opposition, too!) arrive for Saturday's big game. This is quite a switch from last weekend when hundreds of Lincoln residents headed out of the city bound for Kansas. Incidentally, here's hoping that this change carries over into the final score, and that we find Big Red on top!

Arriving from Boulder, Colo., will be two former Lincoln couples who will be entertained, at least part of the time, by Kessler Heights residents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kyles. Since they will be sitting with the Colorado fans, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Winslow, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Tesch, they may have trouble deciding for which team to cheer.

Why the divided loyalty on the part of the visitors? As we said before, the two Colorado families, as did Mr. and Mrs. Kyles, lived in Lincoln several years ago. Then the three families moved to Boulder where, except for the Kyles who have moved back to Lincoln, they have been ever since.

Incidentally, Mr. and Mrs. Winslow will be doubly busy in the visiting category, because both of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Kruse, and Mr. and Mrs. Marion Winslow, are Lincoln residents.

One Lincoln couple who has been away from all of the excitement that football season brings, are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Adams of Bishop Heights. They returned last Thursday from a trip across the Atlantic which took them to places of interest in England and France.

Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Adams were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Haecker, Jr. of Syracuse, N.Y. The two couples met in New York City where they boarded a plane for England.

In London they rented a car and were able to visit many places of historical and cultural note. Next came the flight to Paris where they rented another car, and set out sight-seeing. They spent a total of 10 days in the cities of London and Paris, and another 10 touring the more out-of-the-way places in each country, and although they did have the use of motorized transportation, Mrs. Adams reports that they walked many miles!

We understand that they found food in England to be "excellent," while in France, reading the menus proved to be a sort of a problem. But thanks to Mrs. Adams and the diligent "brushing-up" she did on her French during the summer, the family was saved from total starvation!

Right now, Mr. and Mrs. Adams are glad to be resting after the rather hectic past few weeks. But — if the opportunity to travel abroad comes again, we're sure that they will be the first to take advantage of it!

A trip of shorter variety took Park Manor residents Mr. and Mrs. Walter VanDeventer away last weekend. Saturday afternoon they went to Humboldt for a visit with Mrs. VanDaventer's mother, Mrs. Nora Rue. On Sunday they proceeded on to Stella, where they called on Mr. VanDeventer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin McQueen, and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Wheeler and family.

Commanding the center of attraction in the Park Manor home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Agena is young Andrew Justin who arrived on October 1. Since he is the first child in the family, he is undoubtedly getting an extra amount of attention from his parents and grandparents, Mr. Harry Kostos, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Agena.

Art --the Hudson River painters

BY JOHN CANADY
(c) New York Times News Service

New York—As far back as most people can remember, American art of the mid-nineteenth century has been treated unsympathetically by critics, and neglected by historians, not specifically dedicated to its study. American painters who worked during the stretch between the West-Copley-Allston family, our last representatives of esthetic alliance with England, and Winslow Homer, who has been granted an all-American label based on European standards, have been scoffed at, condescended to, or filed away as dull facts that must be given token notice in general histories of art if noticed at all.

Efforts to stimulate interest in the painters of the Hudson River school and their contemporaries, the first Amercan genre painters, have amounted to little. Increasingly out of key with the ideal of art for art's sake imported to America in the latter part of their century, they have been rejected by our museums — including, God save us all, the one that calls itself a Museum of American Art, the Whitney. At best they have been allowed to hang around (literally) in the out-of-the-way galleries, the corridors, and the offices of museums that have somehow come into possession of them.

Such attention as has been granted these neglected painters by in-the-swing critics and curators has tied them to the tails of some curious kites. With the rise of surrealism we found Sigmund Freud Rung in to replace William Cullen Bryant as a key to Hudson River painting, and then a little later the regionalists dusted off George Caleb Bingham as the prototype of Thomas Hart Benton proclaiming the corncob virtues of the state of Mazur. But, while Bingham survived the debacle that wiped the regionalists from the surface of the earth, there have been few other Americans of that mid-19th-century interval who have been regarded as anything much better than well intentioned but terribly naive provincials.

Hence, although this department has been aware that the wind might be changing, it came as a surprise last week to learn that it had changed direction by 180 degrees. Some comments similar to the above, made in gratitude for the Middendorf collection of American paintings and historical prints, which went on exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum last Wednesday, were greeted with the riposte, "Oh, but you're quite wrong. Nineteenth-century American painting is the new "in" thing."

If this is true, it is almost as distressing as the long history of neglect, since "in" is the most detestable word, describing the most detestable values, in the whole art-and-fashion mink-race.

With three or four exceptions among the paintings, the disruptive Hawthorne being one, and with no exceptions among the prints, the Middendorf collection makes a happy affirmation that literary and historical values in painting are in the process of re-legitimization.

Books

"Michel, Michel" is a huge and powerful first novel by author Robert Lewis whose story is about the battle for possession of a child, Michel Benedek. The loving and clear portrayal is of a boy, whose Jewish parents have died in France at the hands of the Nazis. He was saved by a Frenchwoman, a Catholic, raised by her and against the regulations of canon law, baptised. The story carries with it a sense of not too distant history.

The Benedek affair — reviving old passions, calling forth new sacrifice and courage from both sides, stirring up currents of anti-Semitism and anti-clericalism — is played out in the heart of the child himself. It is Michel, torn apart by opposing loyalties, who in the end must make his own choice, decide his own fate.

Opening lead—two of clubs.

Cards tell a story, but it is not always easy to read the message.

For example, take this case where it would be easy to go wrong. West has no clearly indicated lead and, let's say, leads the deuce of clubs.

East wins with the king and returns the ace on which South plays the jack and West the ten. Too late East realizes that West had led from the Q-10-2 and shifts to a diamond, but the damage is done.

Several plays later declarer ruffs the six of clubs, felling the queen and establishing the nine as a trick. Eventually he makes the contract after discard a diamond on the nine of clubs; the only tricks he loses are a spade and two clubs.

The culprit in the hand is East, who should not lead the ace of clubs at trick two. Instead, he should return a low club, since, if he puts his mind to work on the problem, he can interpret the exact significance of the low club lead by West.

Once declarer follows with the five at trick one, East is in a position to diagnose West's club lead as having come from one of these two holdings: 1. a singleton; 2. a three-card suit consisting of precisely the Q-10-2. A low club return at trick two covers both possibilities and can do no harm.

It is impossible for West to have started with four clubs, because he would have led the queen from a holding of the Q-J-10-2. In the same way, West cannot have the the J-10-2 because he would have led the jack in that case.

The number of hands where effective card reading of this kind is possible is far greater than is generally realized. To be a good card detective you must be willing and able to stop and think. Bridge is not a lazy man's game.

Laity Ask Pope To Let Couples Decide

Rome (AP) — The first Roman Catholic World Laity Congress in 10 years ended Wednesday night with a blunt and dramatic appeal to Pope Paul VI to let couples decide about brith control for themselves.

The appeal introduced a powerful new element in the church's birth control picture. The forceful message was the first from lay leaders of the half-billion-member church to the pontiff urging him to change the church's rules on contraception.

A resolution containing the stand on birth control was formally approved at the plenary session of the congress.

Hectic Week

The meeting climaxed a hectic week in which the 2,500 delegates debated some of the most pressing problems in the present-day church.

A wide range of other resolutions were also approved, including one condemning racism and another calling on the church to give greater rights to women.

The formal stand on birth control followed a tumultuous meeting of the delegation heads. The resolution, which dealt with world development, advocated "responsible parenthood" by all Christians.

It called on the Pope to speak out clearly on the moral and spiritual aspects of birth control. But it asked him to "leave the choice of means to the conscience of parents in consultation with trained and scientific advisers."

Emerged From Talks

This view had emerged from workshop discussions in the congress last week.

The Pope has reserved decision on whether to alter the church's traditional ban against artificial contraception.

Sixty-seven of the delegation leaders voted for the resolution, 21 voted against it and 10 abstained.

Most of those voting for individual decisions on birth control were Africans and Asians. They called the resolution historic.

Antiwar Unit Is Established By Viet Cong

New York Times Service

Washington—The Viet Cong have set up a committee to encourage antiwar sentiment and the antiwar movement in the United States, according to North Vietnamese radio broadcasts.

A broadcast on Hanoi radio Tuesday, the text of which became available here Wednesday, announced the formation on Oct. 16 of the South Vietnam People's Committee for Solidarity with the American People.

The broadcast said that one task of the committee would be to encourage deserters, by giving assistance to American servicemen and civilian officials "who wish to return to their country or go to another place."

Hanoi Radio also broadcast a message from the solidarity committee wishing "brilliant success" to the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, which plans to hold a mass protest against the war in Washington this weekend.

Zsa Zsa Divorced

Juarez, Mexico (AP) — Zsa Zsa Gabor was granted a Mexican divorce from her fifth husband, Joshua S. Cosden, a Texas oil millionaire whom she married in March.

Japan's Puppet, Last Emperor Of China, Dies

Tokyo (AP) — Henry Pu Yi, who at 2 became last emperor of China and later was Japan's puppet emperor of Manchukuo, died Tuesday at 61, Japanese reports from Peking said Wednesday.

The death was not mentioned in China's official news media, but a correspondent of Kyodo news service, quoting a reliable source, said Pu Yi had had kidney cancer.

China's Ching Dynasty ended in 1912 when Pu Yi abdicted at the age of 6 after the successful republican revolution. In 1934 the Japanese made him emperor of the puppet state of Manchukuo they created in northeast China.

TOO MANY MARSHMALLOWS

County Judges Tab R. S. Wiles

Omaha (AP) — The Nebraska County Judges Association elected Judge R. S. Wiles of Gering president at the organization's annual meeting Wednesday in Omaha.

Other officers elected during the one-day meeting included Judges William J. Panec of Fairbury, vice president, and Harvey M. Wilson of Kearney, secretary-treasurer.

Judge Panec said the group also set up a committee to organize training sessions under a federal grant aimed at developing uniformity in county court practices throughout the state.

Cardinal To Remain Safe In Hungary

New York Times Service

Budapest—Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty bowed Wednesday to the requests of Pope Paul VI that he remain for the time being in the sanctuary of the United States embassy here instead of walking out as he had planned.

The Pontiff's wish was conveyed to the Hungarian primate Tuesday by Franz Cardinal Koenig of Austria, who flew to Budapest from Rome.

His walking out would have confronted the Hungarian Communist authorities with the problem of how to treat the 75-year-old cardinal once he set foot outside the extraterritorial area of the embassy.

The presence of nearly 20 uniformed and plainclothes policemen around the embassy during the last four days indicates that the Communist regime intended to arrest him on the spot and return him to prison to serve out a life sentence imposed in 1949 on conviction for "espionage."

This is precisely what the Vatican and the U.S. government wish to avoid since a new arrest of Mindszenty would only serve to upset the already cool relations between them and the party-state regime of Janos Kadar.

White House Cablegram Falls Into GOP Hands

Aboard SS Independence (AP) —A private White House communication urging Democrats to work on Republican Govs. James A. Rhodes of Ohio and John H. Chafee of Rhode Island for support of a Vietnam war resolution fell into Republican hands Wednesday.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California received a copy of a cablegram from W. Marvin Watson, presidential assistant, to former Gov. Price Daniel of Texas listing in detail previous GOP support of similar resolutions.

The Republican governors, caucusing on this cruise to the National Governors' Conference, had agreed unanimously earlier in the day to oppose bringing before the members any resolution endorsing President Johnson's course in Vietnam.

Quick Reaction

Reacting quickly, the White House messaged Daniel, the administration's new liaison man with the governors, filling him in on the record of the Republican governors in recent years in upholding Johnson's basic policies in fighting Communist aggression in Vietnam.

After the Republicans agreed to block a Democratic bid for endorsement of U.S. policy on Vietnam, Gov. Richard J. Hughes, D-N.J., said their move would impair the morale of U.S. troops and bolster that of the Communists.

"That's not the Republicans' intention, but it will be the inevitable result," Hughes told a news conference. He said within days, Communist propaganda will be reporting the GOP action as evidence of U.S. division on the war.

Hughes insisted the Democrats' resolution would not help President Johnson politically, but would tell Hanoi and the world that the United States does not intend to withdraw from the war or to expand it into World War III.

Ample Room

Within those boundaries, Hughes said, there is ample room for Republicans to criticize Johnson's policy at will.

Gov. Daniel J. Evans, R-Wash., denied the Republicans were politically motivated. He said they have felt from the beginning that governors conferences should deal with state matters, not foreign policy, but have not previously had the voting strength to enforce their stand.

He said any morale-harming effect would be the fault of Democrats who persisted in pressing the subject even though they knew Republicans opposed it and could defeat it.

MRS. ROCKEFELLER . . . New York's First Lady challenged newsmen to Ping Pong. She won the game.

Nixon Says Any Nominee To Beat LBJ

Washington (UPI)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon predicted Wednesday that he or any other Republican nominee could defeat President Johnson in a "close race" next year.

That nominee still might be Nelson A. Rockerfeller, he said, notwithstanding the New York governor's insistence that he is not interested.

Nixon spoke to newsmen during a day of conferences with congressmen and senators on Capitol Hill. He said he was not doing any "arm twisting" but was discussing "the legislative situation at this time."

The 1960 GOP presidential nominee listed himself among such current "noncandidates" as Rockefeller, Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and Govs. George Romney of Michigan and Ronald Reagan of California.

GOP IS STRONG, PERCY SAYS, IN 'NONRUNNERS'

Chicago (AP) — Sne. Charles H. Percy said Wednesday that the Republican party has "a great array of noncandidates" for the presidential nomination in 1968. He described noncandidates as "a group of men who won't say yes and can't bring themselves to say no."

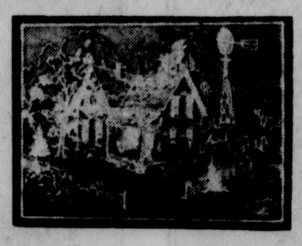

Percy, addressing some 500 members of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association, said the Republicans have "a former vice president, three governors, and some say the junior senator from Illinois is also included.

Percy, who is the junior senator from Illinois, added: s, added:

"I'm inclined to doubt it."

"Probably the most dismaying thing that happens to these men regards the speculation about the vice president's nomination." Percy said. "In a sense, this speculation tends to unite the noncandidates."

Norton Suggests Linking City Remedial Programs

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

The project evaluator for the Lincoln schools' remedial reading and speech program Wednesday proposed intergrating the federally-funded project into existing administrative offices.

Each individual department should assume the full responsibility for planning and implementing the phase of the program which comes under its jurisdiction, Dr. Scott Norton told the Title I Advisory Committee.

Associate professor of educational administration at the University of Nebraska, Norton presented his recommendations to change the operational structure along with results of his five-month evaluation of the special program.

Third Year

The reading and speech program, funded under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, is in its third year here.

Various phases of the project include reading and media centers for formal and informal in-service education of teachers at Elliott School, teacher workshops, a speech and reading diagnostic center at Whittier Junior High, summer school emphasizing remedial reading and speech, and outdoor education at Camp Kitaki.

Facilities and services aimed primarily at low income children, are available for both public and non-public teachers and pupils to use.

Regular Program

Norton's proposed plan would put all testing, media, in-service, treatment and special instruction under the direction of existing departments and personnel to integrate with the regular school program.

An alternate plan he presented to some 25 advisory committee members meeting Wednesday would similarly fuse the program into the on-going departmental structure, but would also maintain more clearly the identity of the teacher, diagnostic, and media centers, activities and facilities.

The proposed change, according to Norton, would alleviate some problems he observed in previous Title I programs. The present separated personnel structure tends to weaken the referral and follow-up procedure, he said.

Integrate

Administrative assistant Mrs. Anne Campbell indicated that the Lincoln schools already are trying to integrate phases of the Title I project into the regular school program.

In the beginning, she said, "we were not sure how the various services offered would fit in, but now we see much of the success of Title I will depend on integration into the school program."

How much integration will be decided by administrative officers of the schools and Title I directors, according to Mrs. Campbell.

Services to non-public schools, however, will still be offered through existing procedures, she added.

Recommendations

The project evaluator declared that Lincoln's Title I measures up to all of the recommendations of the National Advisory Council on Education of Disadvantaged Children, except in the involvement of parents.

Mrs. Campbell suggested that parental involvement should be a point of emphasis in all future programs.

According to Norton, "positive results provide evidence that significant improvement was observed" in the children with reading and speech problems attending summer school.

Self-Control

Progress was noted not only in achievement and learning but also in social development, general attitude and educational orientation, self-control and physical consideration.

More than 87% of the teachers responding to questionnaires felt the diagnostic centers were a positive and helpful addition to the school system. In-service education also is "paying off" as far as children in the classroom are concerned, he said.

"People in the program should be proud of the contributions they have made in such a short time," Norton declared.

New Traffic Plan Set For NU-CU Game

The Lincoln Police Department Wednesday announced changes in the traffic pattern around Memorial Stadium effective for the Colorado - Nebraska football game only.

Safety Education Officer Lt. Mel Dorn said police expect an unusually heavy volume of traffic Saturday. He suggested that "everyone come early and park early."

Lt. Dorn announced the following changes:

— Before and after the game, 14th St. will be one-way northbound from Avery Ave. to Military Road. Traffic will then proceed one-way westbound on Military Road to 10th.

—After the game, 10th will be one-way from Claremont north to Cornhusker Highway. Motorists wishing to come into town from the Belmont area will be routed onto Sun Valley Blvd. to O St.

He also suggested that after the game, people living west of Lincoln who use Interstate 80 should drive to O St. from where they are parked and enter the Interstate highway from the West O access routes.

Lincoln traffic going to points northeast in the city should use Y St. east of 17th, turning at either 27th or 33rd, he said.

Dorn said that traffic problems have been created because of the N. 14th St. bridge being out and street construction projects.

Carrying Said Up

Tokyo (AP)—Japanese ships and planes operating overseas carried 690,000 passengers and 152 million tons of freight in the fiscal year 1966 which ended last March, the Transportation Ministry announced. The passenger figure was 36.5% over the previous year and the freight gain was 18.8.

M16 Malfunctions Blamed On Poor Ammunition

Washington (AP)—House investigators singled out ammunition deficiencies Wednesday as the major contributor to malfunctions of the troubled M16 rifle. They declared Army handling of the problem "borders on criminal negligence."

As initially developed, the light-weight, rapid-firing rifle being used in Vietnam "was an excellent and reliable weapon," the report said. But the investigators contended the manner in which the Army rifle program has been mismanaged "is unbelievable."

The House armed services subcommittee headed by Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., in a hard-hitting report after lengthy hearings and a field trip to South Vietnam, also:

Profits Said Excessive

—Called for government audits of both the Colt Firearms Co., maker of the rifle, and Olin Mathieson, producer of the powder used in ammunition for the M16. The report charged Colt made excessive profits over what was originally negotiated.

—Said it was "at least unethical" for Maj. Gen. Nelson M. Lynde Jr., who was commanding general of the Army Weapons Command at the time of the initial procurement, to accept employment with the producer of the rifle upon his retirement.

—Claimed there still is no proof that modifications proposed will eliminate malfunctions experienced with the M16 in Vietnam and called for an independent test of the combined weapon system.

In New York, spokesmen for both Colt and Olin Mathieson defended their products, saying they meet Army specifications.

Audit Welcomed

Henry Hillman, Colt's vice president for public relations, denied there had been any excess profits, and said the company welcomes an audit by the General Accounting Office. He said Lynde is employed by the parent company in Washington, "but is not on the M16 and never has been."

"It's the most efficient automatic rifle available in the world today," Hillman said. He said it was the first military rifle in at least 100 years developed by private initiative without government funds, plants or facilities.

William L. Wallace, vice president of Olin Mathieson's Winchester-Western Division, said the powder, criticized in the report, has been used successfully around the world since it was developed in 1940.

Noting that the powder long antedates the M16, Wallace said his firm had never tested its performance in that specific gun. He said the company has no testing facilities, and that it was the "Army's problem" to find out if the powder best suited the gun.

'No Complaints'

"Any powder that the Army bought from us was made to their specifications, not ours," Wallace said. "We have never been informed that the powder didn't meet the specifications established by the Army."

The subcommittee report was signed by all three members, Reps. Ichord, Speedy O. Long, D-La., and William G. Bray, R-Ind.

They said Army and Marine troops had been hit by "serious and excessive malfunctions" with the controversial rifle — the worst being a failure to extract the spent cartridge.

Ammunition Blamed

Shortages of cleaning equipment, lack of proper training, instructions and supervision in care and cleaning of the weapon played a part in the malfunctions, they said. "But the major contributor" was use of an ammunition not designed nor developed for use in the weapon, they said.

The report said the Army changed to a different powder without adequate test data in 1964. It added that the adverse effect on the rifle of ammunition loaded with the newly adapted powder was known to the Army as early as March, 1964, but it continued to make quantity purchases for use in Vietnam.

Several modifications to the rifle were made necessary because of the new powder, the investigators said, including a device to slow down the rate of fire and chrome plating of the barrel chamber to prevent pitting. Some earlier reports had touched on this.

No Proof

"There still is no proof that the modifications proposed will eliminate the malfunctions experienced with the M16 in Vietnam," the new report said.

The congressmen called for a test by an independent organization of the modified rifle and ammunition in Vietnam as well as both types of propellant being loaded into the ammunition.

The Army is committed to buy more than 1.4 million M16s.

The investigators said Army officials were advised by the gun manufacturer that more than half the rifles would fail to pass an acceptance test called for under the contract if ammunition loaded with the new powder was used. But, they said, the contractor was allowed to use the original powder for test purposes so the rifles could be accepted by the Army.

'Borders On Negligence'

"The failure on the part of officials with authority in the Army to cause action to be taken to correct the deficiencies of the ammunition borders on criminal negligence," their report said.

The investigators also criticized the sole-source purchase aspects of the M16 program pointing both to Olin Mathieson and Colt.

They said Colt has negotiated fixed-price contracts on a 10% profit basis but a review revealed profits of 19.6% for 1965, 16.8% for 1966 and 13.4% for the first four months of this year.

The investigators also claimed there was a shortage of M16s for training purposes both in this country and in Vietnam when Colt received approval to sell 20,300 rifles to Singapore.

Dominican Men, Not Machines Put To Work On Roads

Santo Domingo (AP)—On a new roadway west of the Dominican Republic capital, sweat-soaked men struggle under a broiling sun to strip the hard, rocky earth.

They use picks and shovels. Dynamite would do the work in seconds, but it would blast them out of their jobs.

Precise figures are unavailable, but the most reliable estimates place at around 300,000 the number of Dominicans unemployed. This is about a third of the labor force.

With few prospects of making an appreciable dent in the ranks, the government of this little Caribbean republic has sidetracked the machine age in favor of ancient job-creating techniques in public works program.

"We have the machinery with which to lay the road in weeks," says an engineer, "but we'd have to lay off a large part of the crews."

Unemployment is partly the product of six years of governmental mismanagement and corruption and of political instability that has frightened away substantial local and foreign investment.

The main contributor, however, is a high population growth rate. It is 3.4 per cent, based on officially recorded births and deaths. The real rate, taking into account a high level of backwoods illegitimacy, is believed to be closer to 4 per cent.

Number To Double

The present 3.9 million population, authorities say, will double in nine years. This means the country has to double food production just to stay abreast of current deficits. Food imports last year totaled $26.8 million, or 17% of all imports, even though in a country of perpetual summer and tropical fertility it's difficult to starve.

The governments that succeeded the Trujillo dictatorship after 1961 either ignored unemployment or met it with demagogic enterprise.

Budget Stymies America

By HOWARD BENEDICT

Cape eKnnedy, Fla. (AP) — The brilliant success of Russia's Venus 4 comes at a time when budget cuts have stymied America's future planetary plans for several years.

The congressional cuts, heavily opposed by many scientific groups, may force America to take a permanent back seat to the Soviets in planetary exploration.

While the United States had no plans to soft-land o spacecraft on Venus, as Venus 4 did Wednesday, this nation had hoped to land two unmanned Project Voyager laboratories on Mars in 1973 and two more in 1975 to study the planet extensively, including a search for life.

Until 1975

Cuts in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's fiscal 1968 budget request have delayed the first double Mars shot until at least 1975. Also eliminated was a preliminary scouting mission to the red planet by a smaller spacecraft in 1971.

America's Mariner 5 was to pass within 2,500 miles of Venus Thursday to make scientific measurements. At 540 pounds, it was not large enough to carry a landing capsule. Venus 4 weighed 2,438 pounds. Each Voyager would weigh more than 20,000 pounds.

The United States has two remaining Mariner craft, both of which are to be launched on flyby missions to Mars during the 1969 launching opportunity. Money had been voted for the two in earlier budgets.

No Others

No other planetary shots are planned before 1975, if then.

Mars moves into position as a target every 25 months and Venus every 19 months.

Supporters of Project Voyager note that Russia has missed only one of these launching opportunities since 1960, emphasizing the vigorous Soviet planetary program.

Until Wednesday, however, the Soviets had not been fully successful. All seven of their Mars shots have failed and 10 previous Venus probes failed.

Problems

Many did not get out of earth orbit because of problems with upper stages of the rocket vehicle. Those that did escape earth's gravity encountered guidance or radio transmission problems.

Venus 3 came close last year, only to fail in the final stages of a soft-landing attempt. It crashed on the planet.

The United States has launched two Mariner crafts toward Mars and three toward Venus. One Mars and one Venus prob succeeded, and Mariner 5 appeared to be headed for success. All have been flyby missions.

VENUS 4 . . . after landing on Earth during tests, Tass claims.

British Find Signals Come In Descent

© Newsweek Times Service

Jodrell Bank, England — British scientists said Wednesday that it was possible that most, if not all, of the signals from the space capsule dropped by the Soviet Venus 4 rocket came as the capsule was slowly descending to the planet's surface.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of the Jodrell Bank Radio Observatory, said earlier Wednesday that all indications were the signals from the capsule were "coming from the surface of the planet Venus."

Asked later Wednesday whether all of the signals emitted after the craft had actually settled on the planet's surface, Sir Bernard said it was possible that the "scientific laboratory' '—as the Russians described it— may have ceased its 90 minutes of signals on impact with the planet.

"Whether the signals actually came from the suface itself or as the capsule was slowly descending to earth by parachute is scientifically insignificant," Sir Bernard said. "It was effectively stationary in the scientific sense. And the information it sent back—either from the surface or during its slow descent—can only be described as amazing.

"The Russians have achieved 100% success in what they set out to do," he added.

The observatory here, with a massive 250-foot radio telescope that looms up from the Cheshire countrysdie, had been asked by the Soviet Union to help track the last part of the 50,000,000-mile Venus journey.

In the early hours, while Sir Bernard and his staff were at their tracking posts, a small speaker was set up in the lobby of the observatory so that reporters could hear the squeal of the Venus 4 and its capsule. Venus itself could be seen in the clear sky through the glass doors.

U.S. 'Sunshine Satellite' Blazes Into Orbit

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — A new American "sunshine satellite" rocketed into orbit Wednesday to help scientists develop a radiation warning system for astronauts and study how the sun disrupts air-to-ground communications.

OSO 4, the fourth orbiting solar observatory, was reported to be functioning normally by space agency officials after riding a fiery Delta rocket into an earth orbit about 350 miles high.

"Everything on the spacecraft looks normal and proper," said Milton Kalet, OSO project coordinator for NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center. "It appears we have a good spacecraft in orbit."

OSO 4 was equipped with nine experiments to study various forms of radiation emitted from the sun. The first of the experiments will be turned on Thursday by ground command.

The $85 million OSO project is part of an international program involving three U.S. agencies and earth-based scientific observatories in other nations—including Russia—aiming to learn more about "weather" on the sun's blazing hot surface.

Scientists eventually hope to predict solar flares in advance, so manned missions to the moon or in deep space will not be caught in hazardous radiation streams.

S. Dakota Congressional Hearings Next Week On Huge Oahe Project

Washington (AP) — Two congressional hearings will be held Oct. 27 and 28 in South Dakota on the proposed $192 million Oahe irrigation project — but the congressmen aren't expecting to hear many new arguments.

The hearings will be conducted by the House Interior Committee. South Dakotans already have presented their case for the project at hearings before the Senate Interior Committee.

"What it amounts to now," said a congressional aide, "is showing the House committee South Dakota's support of the project — and there'll be plenty of that."

About 60 state organizations and individuals are scheduled to testify at the hearings Friday at Huron and Saturday at Redfield.

Boe To Testify

Lead off witness Friday is to be Gov. Nils Boe.

The congressmen are to be flown in a National Guard plane Sunday over the project area — and Rep. E. Y. Berry, R-S.D., has promised them some hunting in the Oahe Reservoir area Sunday afternoon.

South Dakota congressmen are confident the Senate will authorize the project this year, and Berry predicts the House will add its approval early next year.

The project would carry water from Oahe Reservoir more than 100 miles northeast to irrigate 190,000 acres and provide municipal and industrial water to at least 17 communities.

It is the first phase of a project that ultimately would irrigate 495,000 acres in the James River Valley.

Opposition Seen

South Dakota's argument has been it seeks only the irrigation promised 20 years ago when it gave up farm land for the flood control reservoirs which benefit the rest of the Missouri River Basin.

There is potential opposition to authorizing such an expensive new project—especially among congressmen who argue it is time to give priority to cities at the expense of new irrigation projects.

Herrick New Clinical Director Of State Hospital At Norfolk

Norfolk (AP) — Dr. Howard Herrick has been named new clinical director at Norfolk State Hospital, according to Dr. Charles Ingham, superintendent.

DR. HOWARD HERRICK

Succeeds Osborne

Dr. Herrick succeeds Dr. Robert Osborne, appointed earlier this year by Gov. Norbert Tiemann as deputy director for medical services in the State Department of Institutions, with an office in Lincoln.

Dr. Herrick, a native of Harlan, Iowa, received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Omaha in 1951 and was graduated from the University of Nebraska College of Medicine at Omaha with an M.D. degree in 1956.

Completing his residency at the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute in Omaha in 1960, he served in the Navy two years, after which he was an instructor in psychiatry and neurology at NPI.

In 1964, Dr. Herrick became assistant superintendent in charge of the psychiatric division of Dewitt State Hospital at Auburn, Calif., from where he comes to Norfolk.

FINLEY'S OAKLAND MOVE OKAYED

...Expansion Teams Approved In KC, Seattle

Chicago (AP) — The American League approved Wednesday night transfer of the Kansas City Athletics to Oakland, Calif., effective in 1968, and also adopted an expansion plan to increase membership to 12 clubs by 1971 with the expansion franchises going to Kansas City and Seattle, Wash.

The awards to the new franchise cities are subject to applicable baseball rules and procedures and, in the case of Seattle, to that city being able to provide suitable stadium facilities.

The league statement, which followed a day-long hearing of presentations by Oakland, Kansas City, Seattle and Dallas-Fort Worth, Tex., said details still remain to be worked out including coorindation of the expansion plans with Commissioner William Eckert and the National League.

David Cohn, head of the Governor's Stadium Committee of Seattle, said that he had his fingers crossed all day long and did not know that Seattle had been included in the plan until the press received the announcement.

"We are highly gratified and now that we have the commitment I don't look for any problems in our bond issue," Cohn said. "But it is a nine-inning ballgame and we'll just have to wait."

Cohn said that Seattle will vote in February on a $40 million bond issue for a multiple domed stadium.

"Our only request when we made our presentation before the owners was that we could have some kind of a guarantee of being in the expansion plan if the bond issue passed," Cohn said.

They told me at that time there would be no problem and I came away from the meeting thinking we had a gentleman's agreement that Seattle would be in," Cohn added. "But we didn't know for sure until the very end. It takes 60 per cent of the vote to pass the bond issue."

CHARLES FINLEY

Charles O. Finley, who was rebuffed in 1963 in an effort to shift the Athletics to Louisville, Ky., joyfully greeted newsmen with the comment:

"Naturally, I'm very happy—damn happy to be accurate. I am most grateful for the consideration and deliberation given by the league in approving the shift. Last but not least I am looking forward to Oakland in 1968."

Finley said his transplanted team would be called the Oakland Athletics and added, "The mule is going with me."

The reference was to Finley's team mascot, also named Charley O.

The expansion statement was made at the same time that Joe Cronin, American League president, was in an apparently hot huddle with Kansas City representatives, who earlier in the day had appealed for a continuation of the major league franchise in Kansas City without interruption.

It was the second transfer of the original A's franchise, which switched from the Mack family in Philadelphia to Kansas City in 1955 when the late Arnold Johnson bought the club. Finley purchased the club from the Johnson estate in 1961 and had stormy seven-season stay in the Missouri city.

It was the second time the American League beat the National League to the draw on expansion. In 1961, the American League installed the Los Angeles Angels and the Washington Senators as new members. The new Washington club replaced the franchise which was switched to Minnesota in 1961.

The Los Angeles Angels have since switched to Anaheim and are known as the California Angels.

The National League did not increase to a 10-club team until 1962 when the New York Mets and the Houston Astros were accepted.

The Dallas-Fort Worth presentation, last in the day-long session by the club owners, was made in a 15-minute appearance by Lamar Hunt in behalf of the Dallas-Fort Worth club of the Texas League.

Hunt, owner of the Kansas City football Chiefs, and his Dallas-Fort Worth associates applied two years ago at the major league meetings in Miami for franchises in both the American and National leagues.

The A's will play in the $30 million Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum, which seats 50,000 for baseball.

Seattle's bid for its promised franchise hinges upon success of the bond issue approval coming up in a February election. The city proposes to build a $40 million multiple purpose domed stadium.

Anderson Predicted As 'Superstar'

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
AP Sports Writer

Bob Anderson started the season as one of the most heralded rookie quarterbacks in Big Eight football history.

After four games, it appears he's better than advertised.

"He's going to be a superstar," said coach Dan Devine of Missouri after Anderson and Colorado handed Mizzou its first loss, 23-9. Anderson can do it all. He runs with power, yet he's fast, quick, an excellent faker and ball handler. In passing, he's 25-for-45 without any interceptions.

Anderson is the Big Eight total offense leader with 642 yards and 5.9 yards a play. In rushing, he's No. 3 with 290 yards and a 4.6 average. Actually, Anderson's figures could be much more impressive, except he's shared time with Dan Kelly in one-sided victories.

Against Iowa State, for instance, Anderson handled 21 run-pass plays for 196 yards and Kelly 21 for 158 yards.

The fact Kelly is running No. 2 should be enough to convince anyone. Kelly ran for 115 yards and passed for 99 against Nebraska last year in a last-minute 21-19 loss, so Nebraska fans will be wondering how anyone could be better than Kelly. Colorado plays at Nebraska in Saturday's big one.

Anderson is a powerfully-built 6-foot, 204-pounder with a mop of sandy hair which makes him look like a muscular Dennis the Menace. His second love is baseball. He was the catcher for Boulder, Colo., the National Baseball Congress champion.

"He does everything 100 per cent," says Gary Moschetti, a former teammate. "He eats the same way. He completely cleans everything on his plate and even breaks chicken bones to get the marrow."

NU Keys On Defense To Stop Buff Offense

. . . NEW WRINKLES INSTALLED

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska's defensive coaches Wednesday continued installation of some new defensive wrinkles that head coach Bob Devaney hopes will cause trouble for the versatile Colorado offense Saturday.

"Colorado does so many things on offense that we have had to try to come up with something new on defense to try to cope with those things," Devaney said.

The Buffs present an inside running problem with Wilmer Cooks and William Harris, have Harris as an outside running threat and quarterback Bob Anderson as a pass-run threat on the option.

The Husker head man also figures his offense must be versatile in its bid to move the ball against Colorado.

"Colorado has a veteran defensive secondary with all but one man (Hale Irwin) back from last year," Devaney noted. "And they put a lot of pressure on the passer.

"You can't just go out there with the idea of throwing against them," he continues. "Baylor tried that and they didn't do very good.

"Neither can you just plan to run against them because that alone won't work either. We hope to be able to mix our running and passing attacks and be able to do it more effectively than we have previously."

The Husker gridders worked for two hours Wednesday.

"We are trying to get ready both mentally and physically for Colorado," Devaney explained. "I know it sounds like a repeat of what we say every week, but we're trying to keep from making so many mistakes.

"We're trying to improve our execution."

Defensive end Ivan Zimmer returned to workouts Wednesday and Devaney said he would be ready by Saturday.

Offensive halfback Marv Green, however, was counted out of Saturday's game and defensive halfback Alan Larson, who also runs back punts, is still doubtful.

Larson worked out Wednesday, but was not at full speed and Devaney said, "He's a possibility, but we don't know for sure yet."

Buffs Favored

Football forecasters for Associated Press and United Press International favor Colorado by 2-1 in Saturday's football contest against Nebraska.

Will Grimsley of the Associated Press picks Colorado by 20-18, observing, "Buffs want to get even for that 21-19 loss last year that knocked them out of conference title."

The AP's Harold Claassen, however, favors the Huskers, noting, "The Buffaloes are favored but it is the belief here that Nebraska will take it out on Colorado for that upset loss to Kansas last week. Frank Patrick to be the star."

Steve Snider of United Press International goes with the Buffs by 21-14 with the observation, "Huskers figure tough after last week's upset."

Patrick 16th

Nebraska sophomore quarterback Frank Patrick is tied for 16th among the nation's passing leaders, according to the National Collegiate Sports Services.

The NCSS, which bases its leaders on number of completions, shows Patrick as the only Big Eight passer among the top 25 with the 6-7 Husker's 49 completions tying him with Navy's John Cartwright and putting him one ahead of Alabama's Ken Stabler.

The nation's passing leader is New Mexico's Terry Stone with 91 completions.

Nebraska, this weekend, will be facing the nation's No. 4 punt returner and the nation's No. 2 man in interception returns.

Colorado's Charles Greer has returned 12 punts for 253 yards, only 45 behind, Wyoming's leading Vic Washington.

The Buffs' Dick Anderson ranks second in interception returns with five for 61 yards.

Frosh Starters

Head freshman coach Cletus Fischer, who makes his coaching debut with the Husker yearlings against Kansas State at Manhattan, Kan., Friday, announced his starting offensive lineup Wednesday.

Fischer said the backfield would have Rick Wenner of Detroit at quarterback, Bill Brown of Wheaton, Ill., at fullback with Dan Schneiss of West Bend, Wis., and Paul Rogers of Rock Rapids, Iowa, at halfbacks.

The ends will be Bob Logan of Jefferson City, Mo., at tight end and Guy Ingles of Omaha at split end with Ron Volberding of Omaha and Wally Winter of Lincoln at tackles.

Kent Liddle of Deerfield, Ill., will be the center with Dennis Ford of Beaver, Pa., and Roger Poledna of West Point the guards.

Wesleyan's Kearns Has Big Future

Football heroes are easily found when a team is going good and in the midst of a win stteak.

But perhaps the best is brought out in some others when the going gets tough. Nebraska Wesleyan University coach Ray Westover thinks he has such a young man in Mike Kearns.

Mike is an 18-year-old freshman who tips the scales at a hefty 230, but has the speed and quickness of a much lighter player.

The NWU team has been belted around soundly in its last two games, but Westover and his staff cannot think of enough nice things to report about Kearns.

"He makes an amazing amount of tackles," noted Westover. "Mike seldom is taken completely out of a play and even when he is sometimes he recovers to make the tackle with a second effort.

"We got out first indication of his toughness and desire to play in a pre-season scrimmage against powerful Omaha University. Al Caniglai (OU's veteran mentor) said Kearns was the toughest player in the line to handle for the Indians.

Mike has also been busy in his first year as a Plainsman, learning several positions. He opened as a defensive man and an occasional offensive center. Then some key injuries forced the staff to use him on both offense and defense.

Kearns was well acquainted with his side of the line in the Doane game last week. While he was stationed at tacle, fellow townsman Jim Gibson was at the guard and a classmate and cousin, Tom Kearns, was at the end. This gave NWU an all-Rushville right side of the line.

Kearns naturally had several football school inquiries after a brilliant prep career at Rushville. But Gibson's influence helped get him to the Lincoln campus as much as any single factor.

Westover feels Mike has a fine future in football and has already proven himself while only a feshman. As a middle guard and center at Rushville last year, he helped coach R Jones' team to an 11-0 record and a second place final ranking in Class C. Mike climaxed his prep play as a member of the 1967 South Shrine Bowl team.

Prep Parader Selects Minden To Tip Cozad

. . . PILGER RISKS 'D' LEAD

By RICK AKIN

Few games consequential to forecasters' season conclusions are on this the seventh week's high school football schedule.

Minden's trip to Cozad, important to the whacky Southwest Conference, highlights the weekend play.

Cozad has been up and down this season, upsetting Ogallala in the second week of the season, being upset by Holdrege two weeks ago and then upsetting Gothenburg, 14-0, last week.

Now consigned a spoiler, the Haymakers can trip undefeated Minden into a conference tie with Ogallala. Minden, rated sixth in the Class B Nebraska Prep Ratings, came out a shaky winner the first four times out until defeating Hebron, 20-7, last week outside the conference.

No. 1 in Class D, Pilger journeys to Humphrey St. Francis, fifth in Class C, to meet its second recognized C team in the last three weeks. Battle Creek battered Pilger, 34-0, two weeks ago.

No. 4 Battle Creek is at Newman Grove, a team recently ousted from the ratings by St. Francis. Clay Center and Lawrence, two of Class D's rated, meet.

There are a couple of games for area prestige: Columbus at Fremont, Laurel at Madison, Falls City at Nebraska City, Holdrege at Lexington and Columbus Scotus at David City being the highlighters.

The city schedule features an intra-city duel between East and Southeast in Seacrest Field and Fairbury's journey to Pius X, both on Friday night.

Lincoln High hosts North Platte Saturday night and Northeast goes to Grand Island Friday.

The week's forecast:

East v. Southeast (Seacrest Field, Friday night) — Knights' armor dull but still together.

Fairbury v. Pius X (Pius X Stadium, Friday night) — At long last, Thunderbolts first victory.

Northeast at Grand Island—Islanders flat good all the way around.

Lincoln High v. North Platte (Seacrest Field, Saturday night) —Links now appear like everyone thought they would.

Minden at Cozad—Whippets have had it when they needed it.

Columbus Scotus at David City Aquinas—Scotus out of class enrolment-wise, but not football-wise.

—PLAYER OF WEEK—

Haussermann's 7 TD's Are Good

By RICK AKIN
Prep Sports Writer

Some of the toughest runs John Haussermann has made this season have been back to Republican City's huddle.

Five times he's had touchdown runs called back because of penalties upfield.

But last Friday night Haussermann took out his frustration on formerly undefeated Stamford, scoring seven times to be named this week's high school football player of the week.

The senior ran 1, 26, 70, 52, 12, and 54 yards to score and hauled in a 10-yard pass for another, bringing his season's total to 17.

His total ground yardage in the 44-25 victory was 357 yards on 31 carries. He also completed two passes for 18 yards.

Others in the prep limelight:

Mark Owens, Boys Town — Junior replaced injured Nate McKinney and was the workhorse of the Cowboy's ground attack, scoring twice, in a 39-6 victory over Pius X.

Steve Runty, Ogallala — Threw two touchdown passes and ran for one in 27-0 win over Alliance.

Mitch Mittler, Dodge — Average 16.1 yards a carry, scored two touchdowns and intercepted two passes in 19-12 squeaker past Beemer.

Jim Ellis, Lincoln High—Played stellar defensive game at halfback, did an excellent job of blocking on offense and caught 31-yard pass to set up a touchdown in 28-0 blanking of Southeast.

Charlie McWhorter, Omaha North —Scored both touchdowns and led running attack in 13-13 tie with Bellevue.

Mike Hall, Exeter — Ran for two touchdowns, caught two scoring passes, threw one himslf, ran for one extra point, kicked one in 38-0 win over Fairmont.

John Howell, Omaha Cathedral —Scored four touchdowns in a Nebraska Centennial Conference "must" 31-19 win over Wahoo Neumann.

Larry Beckler, Seward — Scored four touchdowns and did most of the rushing in 39-13 rout of Geneva.

Danny Wolfe, Sandy Creek — Returned a kickoff back 75 yards for a touchdown after Nelson had taken a 19-18 lead. Also made eight tackles.

Marlyn Washburn, Mead — Linebacker-quarterback made 11 tackles, threw a touchdown pass and ran for three in 31-12 victory over Fort Calhoun.

KU's Zook Top Lineman

. . . IN NATIONAL BALLOTING

By Associated Press

John Zook, defensive end on the University of Kansas football team, spends his summers on his father's farm, throwing around bales of hay that weigh 60 and 70 pounds.

He spent last Saturday throwing his 240-pound weight around in the Nebraska backfield for a major role in Kansas' 10-0 upset of the Cornhuskers.

His jarring play and 15 tackles earned him Wednesday the nod as the college Lineman of the Week in The Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters.

"Zook is a good defensive end," said Bob Devaney, Nebraska coach, who was shut out for the first time in 59 games as Cornhusker mentor. Three times the 6-foot-4 end from Larned, Kan., hit Ben Gregory or Frank Patrick in the Nebraska backfield for long losses.

Zook's hobby is sky diving, but not during the grid season.

"Sky diving is more exciting than football," he said. "My first actual jump was pretty scary. It seemed it took a long time for the chute to open, but, really it was only a couple of seconds."

Jimmy Keyes, a 212-pound linebacker for Mississippi, was high in the weekly balloting. He was knocked out momentarily in the first period against Georgia but returned to action and booted a 22-yard field goal to put the Rebels ahead in the third period as they upset the Bulldogs. He also make a key interception of a Georgia aerial that set up the Rebels' final touchdown.

Other linemen praised included Bob Goodridge, Vanderbilt split end; Ted Hendricks, defensive end for the University of Miami, Fred Carr, linebacker for Texas at El Paso, and defensive end Mel Tucker of Toledo.

Tackles Chris Collins of Vanderbilt and Joe Greene of North Texas State, and linebacker Rick Goodwin of Oklahoma also were nominated.

Husker Cage Frosh Sport More Height

You can't blame Joe Cipriano for casting an envious look at Glenn Potter's freshman basketball squad.

Height, a scarce commodity on the varsity, is found in three of the frosh hopefuls who started workouts under Potter Monday.

Biggest is 6-10 Bernard Brown of Shelbyville, Ky. Tim Allmond (6-8) of New York City and LeRoy Chalk (6-7) of Big Sandy, Tex., are others who could help bolster the rebounding punch on the varsity in future years.

Potter had an opening practice turnout of 16 players. Topping the list of candidates are the rangy trio previously mentioned, Tom Bryan of Fort Recovery, Ohio; Rick Kronebusch of Conrad, Mont., Cliff Moller of Bronx, N.Y., and Joey Rathe of Sterling.

Also turning out Monday were Rich Olson and Roger Holmes, members of Lincoln Northeast's state championship team last spring.

Potter, whose team challenges the varsity Dec. 1, indicates he'll probably carry 12 players on his squad.

The freshman candidates:

Tim Allmond (6-8), New York City; Jerry Birt (6-1), Oxford; Joe Bishop (6-4), Gretna; Bernard Brown (6-10), Shelbyville, Ky.; Tom Bryan (6-5), Fort Recovery, Ohio; LeRoy Chalk (6-7), Big Sandy, Tex.; Tim Dodson (6-0), Maywood.

Larry Etmund (6-1), Martell; Mike Gearhart (6-3), Grand Island; Mike Hill (6-1), Omaha; Roger Holmes (6-3), Lincoln; Rick Kronebusch (6-3), Conrad, Mont.; Cliff Moller (6-1), Bronx, N.Y.; Rich Olson (5-9), Lincoln; Joey Rathe (6-4), Sterling; Bruce Steans (6-0), Anderson, Ind.

Big Eight Has Top Candidates

. . . MEYLAN, LIGGINS, ANDERSON

Kansas City (AP)—The list of All America candidates in the Midlands starts with Oklahoma's Granville Liggins and Nebraska's Wayne Meylan, probably the nation's two best middle guards, with Colorado quarterback Bob Anderson the No. 1 offensive candidate.

The Associated Press regional board, in its first report, noted the Big Eight and Missouri Valley has more than its share of outstanding linemen, but the backs need make no apologies.

Both the cat-like 219-pound Liggins and the brutally efficient 231-pound Meylan are seniors, and it's a shame they play the same position. If a coach had both of them on his squad, he undoubtedly would make one a linebacker. Both players drop off the line occasionally to a middle linebacker position in certain situations.

Liggins was hampered by injuries part of last season and Meylan was a first team All America choice. This fall both are in top form.

Anderson, a 6-foot, 204-pounder who can do it all, has made a tremendous impression in his first four collegiate games. He has scored four times, passed for two more TDs, gained 290 yards rushing and 352 passing without a single interception. His mixture speed, power, faking and ball handling will give Nebraska's tough defense a severe test Saturday at Lincoln, Neb.

At his current pace of 160.5 yards a game, Anderson would set a Big Eight career total offense record. The all-time Big Eight leader, Paul Christman of Missouri, averaged 131.5 for 29 collegiate games in gaining 4,246 run-pass yards as a single wing tailback in 1938-39-40.

Close behind this leading trio, in the board's estimation, are a group of top defensive tackles led by 6-foot-4, 274-pound Joe Greene of North Texas; a half dozen top linebackers headed by Tulsa's Bob Junko and Kansas State's Danny Lankas; and some gifted defensive backs topped by Colorado safety Dick Anderson, Bob's older brother.

Minnesota coach Murray Warmath said, "Meylan was the outstanding player on the field by four miles. We prayed he'd have a heat stroke."

"Liggins made a fantastic second effort chasing the football," said coach Chuck Fairbanks after the Texas game, in which he made 20 tackles. "He caused their only fumble by pushing the center into the quarterback. One time, he knocked down both the center and the faker, then tackled (Bill) Bradley."

Coach Dan Devine of Missouri said "Anderson will be a superstar."

Oklahoma's Bob Warmack is rated second only to Anderson at his position.

The board rated the top offensive linemen as tight end Jim Zamberlan of Louisville; tackles Bob Kalsu of Oklahoma and Mike Montler of Colorado; guard Kirk Tracy of Colorado and center Jon Kolb of Oklahoma State.

Gloves Smoker Slated Nov. 15

. . . AT FAIRGROUNDS

Lincoln's Golden Gloves season will open Nov. 15 with a smoker at the State Fairgrounds Arena on Nov. 15, Bill DeRock, chairman of the sponsoring Lincoln Masters Barbers Association announced Wednesday night.

DeRock said the opening event of the fall and winter season leading up to the Midwest Golden Gloves Tournament will be held at the State Fairgrounds on that date.

DeRock also said tentative smoker dates were set for the middle of December in Crete and for Jan. 10 at the State Fairgrounds.

The Southeast District Tournament is tentatively set for Jan. 26-27 in Lincoln, DeRock said, with the Midwest tournament tentatively set for Feb. 9-10 at the Omaha Civic Auditorium.

Larry Emery, coach of the Roberts Dairy Boxing Club said his team would start training sessions at the Roberts Dairy Gym at 10th and M next Monday and would work nightly at 7 p.m.

Ted White, who is coaching the El Rancho Boxing Club, said his team is working nightly at 7 p.m. at King's Ballroom in preparation for the first smoker.

The Lincoln Job Corps is also expected to have a team ready for the opening smoker.

Bonavena-Ellis Fight Postponed To Dec. 2

Buenos Aires (AP) — Oscar Bonavena's scheduled heavyweight Nov. 11 eliminatoin bout with Jimmy Ellis in Louisville, Ky., has been postponed until Dec. 2, promoter Juan Carlos Lectoure said Wednesday.

Lectoure said that promoter Mike Malitz had cabled him from New York granting Bonavena's request for a postponement of the semifinal bout in the World Boxing Association elimination tourney which seeks a successor to Cassius Clay.

Yanks Farm McDonald, Bring Up Alan Closter

New York (AP)—The New York Yankees brought their roster to the 40-man winter limit Wednesday by moving up five young players from their farm system and assigning catcher Bill Bryan, outfielder Bob Biletnikoff and first baseman Dave McDonald of Grand Island to Syracuse of the International League.

The players advanced to the parent club were left-handed pitchers Alan Closter from Creighton and John Cumberland from the Syracuse roster and outfielders James Lyttle and Joseph Pactwa and right-handed pitcher Steve Kline from Greensboro, N.C., of the Carolina League.

Closter was 4-0 at Binghamton and Cumberland 4-5 at Syracuse.

Omaha Leading CIC In Offense

The Omaha University Indians, tied for first place in the Central Intercollegiate Conference, lead the CIC in two team and six individual categories according to league statistics available Wednesday.

Omaha is averaging 270 yards a game passing in five games, connecting on 76 of 133 tosses, and has 416.2 total yards per game.

Quarterback Marlin Briscoe has 260.6 yards passing per game on 73 of 122 and a 271.8 yard total offensive average. Ronnie Sayers is the leading rusher among the five conference teams with 445 yards in 85 carries. Tom McKernan has caught 20 passes for 492 yards and scored 42 points on seven touchdowns and Ray Shaw has a 40.1 yard punting average.

Doane Harriers Topple Omaha

Crete—Doane ran its dual cross country record to 5-0 Wednesday by placing four of the top five men to stop Omaha University, 20-36.

Bruce Sheffield of Doane won the four-mile event in 21:14.5, followed by teammates Ron Uarich, Steve Gonglinger and Jon Bible in the 2-4-5 spots. Rich Carey of Omaha was third.

Doane runs another dual today at Peru, starting at 4 p.m.

Omaha Indians Will Visit Drake

Omaha—Coach Al Caniglia will take his Omaha University Indians to Des Moines Saturday for the most important football game of the season as far as he's concerned.

The reason? Well, a win over Drake would set OU up in good shape for the CIC title run and would also give the youthful Indians a terrific shot in the arm.

Omaha's vets need no prodding to get themselves ready for this one. Last year the Bulldogs mauled OU, 53-0, to close out the season at Omaha. In fact, the lone Omaha win in the five games between the schools to date was a 34-29 thriller at Des Moines in 1963.

Husker Harriers In Home Debut

Nebraska's cross country team, with a 0-1 record after losing at Kansas State last weekend, makes its home debut Saturday at Pioneers Park.

The Husker runners will face Air Force and Colorado in a 10:45 a.m. triangular.

Hastings Top Seeded Team In Cage Meet

Defending champion Hastings was seeded No. 1 in the Midwest Basketball Tournament slated Dec. 4-5-6 in Lincoln.

The tall and talented Broncos will meet J. F. Kennedy College in the opening day's first game at 4 p.m.

Coach Lynn Farrell will have one of the tallest teams in state circles again this year. The front line is likely to include 6-11 Jack Kramer, 6-7 Glenn Mays, and 6-7 Dick Beck.

Nebraska Wesleyan University will again host the eight-team round robin affair and there will be four games every day.

Runner-up Doane of the 1966 meet drew Dana in the 7:30 Monday tilt. At 5:45 p.m., it will be Midland and Friends University meetiing. Wesleyan will close out the day at 9:15 against Concordia.

Devine Returns To Mizzou Camp After Illness

Columbia, Mo. (AP)—Dan Devine, Missouri's head football coach, was back on the job Wednesday after a one-day absence. He quipped: "Things went so well without me in practice that I decided I'd better get back."

Devine became ill at a squad meeting Monday night and was rushed to a hospital where physicians determined that he was suffering only from fatigue.

Devine said sophomore Ron McBride, fully recovered from a sprained ankle, will start against Iowa State Saturday at left halfback, a trouble spot for the Tigers since Jon Staggers suffered a dislocated shoulder a week and a half ago.

Big 8 Grid Workouts

Iowa State

Ames, Iowa (AP)—Two Iowa State football players injured in last week's Kansas State game are expected to be ready for the homecoming game against Missouri Saturday, coach Clay Stapleton said Wednesday.

The coach said tight end Brian Feikema, bothered by bruised ribs, is the most doubtful performer, while defensive captain Dave Mayberry has recovered from a knee injury.

Wednesday's workout was highlighted by 45 minutes of scrimmage against reserves —20 of it offensive and 25 minutes defensive.

Oklahoma

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Two of Oklahoma's top football players—tailback Steve Owens and fullback Rick Baldridge-were hospitalized Wednesday with illnesses similar to what has swept the OU team for three weeks.

Four other Sooners already were in the school infirmary with the virus. But coach Chuck Fairbanks said he is concerned because Owens apparently has "something a little different" from the sickness that briefly hospitalized other players.

OU opens its Big Eight Conference season Saturday against Kansas State.

Tuesday's practice, in pads and sweat pants, was "a pretty spirited practice," Fairbanks said, adding he thought quite a bit was accomplished.

"But we've had so many boys out that we haven't had a normal practice in three weeks," he said.

Oklahoma State

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State football coach Phil Cutchin called a halt to practice Wednesday after an hour and 10 minutes of drill because the Cowboys couldn't get in the spirit of the practice.

"I think the players feel like I do—it's been a long time between games," said Cutchin. OSU has played only one game in the past three weeks.

"If our defense plays like it did today, then our offense had better play well against Kansas," Cutchin said. The Cowboys play their homecoming game against Kansas Saturday.

"But it's a long time until Saturday, and I believe our young men will wake up in time," he added hopefully.

Kansas

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Coach Pepper Rodgers of Kansas wasn't too happy with the football team's workout Wednesday for the second straight day.

"The defense looked better," Rodgers said. "but I didn't think our offense did much. It's not lack of hustle, just execution. I've had no complaint with our kids' hustle all year."

Rodgers said Willie McDaniel will start for the second straight week at defensive middle guard when the Jayhawks travel to Oklahoma State Saturday.

The KU coach also said Ken Wertzberger suffered a hip pointer in the Jayhawks' 10-0 victory over Nebraska, but should be ready to play this week. Wertzberger is an offensive guard.

Colorado

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — Coach Eddie Crowder of the Colorado Buffaloes said Wednesday fullback Wilmer Cooks is a doubtful starter for Saturday's Big Eight conference game with Nebraska at Lincoln.

Cooks suffered a severely bruised knee in the Missouri game and it has not responded to treatment as expected, Crowder said. He added, however, that Cooks would be on the travel squad.

The Buffs worked on timing and play polishing in a two-hour, no-contact workout Wednesday.

Federal Sports Regulatory Group Urged By Nix

Washington (AP)—Creation of a Federal Athletic Commission to regulate professional sports was urged Wednesday by Rep. Robert N. C. Nix, D-Pa.

The Philadelphia Congressman said the growth of sports through nationwide television has created sports organizations that are too powerful and too geographically dispersed to be regulated effectively by the states.

Nix introduced a bill that would establish a five-member commission, appointed by the President, with the power to issue uniform regulations in sports where it determines the public interest requires such regulation.

In a statement accompanying the legislation Nix said sports long since has outgrown the hometown nature in which it once flourished. He said 40 million watched the World Series on television while 35,000 sat in Boston's Fenway Park to see it.

Parilli AFL's Offensive Star

. . . FIVE TD PASSES

By Associated Press

The Miami Dolphins forced Babe Parilli's hand but there wasn't much they could do about his arm.

Facing a five-man front line that made running plays difficult, Parilli resorted to passing and fired five touchdown passes in Boston's 41-10 romp over Miami last Sunday.

The performance made the ageless Babe the Associated Press' choice as American Football League Offensive Player of the Week.

Parilli completed 16 of the 20 passes for 281 yards and the five touchdowns. And the way he tells it, the Dolphins made him throw.

"They forced me to pass," said Parilli. "They forced my hand by taking away our running game. It's almost impossible to run against a 5-1 defense."

So, Parilli, who at 37 is playing his 14th season of professional football, threw.

He hit Larry Garron on scoring pitches of 17 and 41 yards and then found Jim Whelan for three touchdowns —twice from nine yards out and once on a 41-yarder.

Four of the touchdowns came in the first half as the Patriots raced to a 27-3 lead at the intermission.

But Parilli kept throwing after halftime and found Whelan with the 41-yarder in the third period.

"We had them 20-0 in the Orange Bowl last year," he said, "but they came back. I wanted to make sure that wouldn't happen again."

Although Parilli's passes provided the bulk of Boston's offensive punch, big Jim Nance had another good day. The pile driving halfback smashed for 113 yards in 20 carries. He leads the AFL with 607 yards, 245 more than Houston's Hoyle Granger.

59 Prep Bands Play At Husker Tilt

Fifty-nine Nebraska high school bands have accepted invitations to take part in the annual Band Day at the University of Nebraska, according to Prof. Donald Lentz, director of bands.

Band Day will be held Nov. 4 and the program will include a parade through downtown Lincoln starting at 9:15 a.m. and a concert from the south stands of Memorial Stadium at the halftime of the Nebraska-Iowa State football game.

The Band Day program will involve more than 3,500 high school musicians, twirlers and their directors. Jack Snider, director of the Cornhusker Marching Band, will be the parade marshall.

Hunting Clock

Shooting hours for deer, turkey, and antelope are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset. Hours for the early teal season, rails, and snipe are sunrise to sunset. Quail hours are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour before sunset. All other game may be taken from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

The following applies to any point in Nebraska that is one north or one south of each of the cities and towns. For each 13 miles west of any designated city add one minute, and for each 13 miles east subtract one minute. Valentine and Scottsbluff schedules are Mountain Daylight Time. All others are Central Daylight Time. Hunters should set their watches according to the time zone in which they are hunting.

. . . MOST CONFERENCES DOWN

By DICK DUNKEL

College football power is moving pell mell to the south and west and to the smaller colleges.

Average member Index for seven leading conferences shows that five have dropped since last year, one has remained the same and the other has been the only gainer. The figures are:

Southeastern, 93.4; Pacific Eight, 89.5; Southwest, 89.3; Big Ten, 88.9; Big Eight, 86.5; Western AC, 85.7; Atlantic Coast, 85.3.

Western AC (Wyoming, Brigham Young, et al) is up a whopping 6.2 over 1966. All others dipped except Atlantic Coast which stayed the same.

Meanwhile our small college standing shows 23 rated at over 65.0. A few years ago there were a mere half dozen above that level. Many majors have dropped into this area.

The Southeastern shows the greatest dominance in its history despite a 1.4 rating decrease. Not a single SEC member remains undefeated and untied.

Meanwhile, the headlong race for the nation's No. 1 rating is only beginning. Challenges faced by members of the Top 11 this week are illustrated by the following Index differences which they show over opponents:

Southern Cal 20 over Washington
Purdue 30 over Oregon St.
Houston 22 over Miss. St.
N.C. State 34 over Wake Forest
UCLA 19 over Stanford
Notre Dame 21 over Illinois
Mich. St. 14 over Minnesota
Wyoming 33 over Wichita St.
Tennessee even with Alabama
Colorado 20 over Nebraska

That's par — not a forecast —and indicates what the favorite must do in order to maintain his present rating.

The higher rating teams have won in 74.6% of the 805 games, excluding ties, covered here through last week.

Schedule with ratings follows:

Briscoe Eyes Record Book

Omaha—With only half the 1967 football season gone, Omaha University's amazing seniod quarterback, Marlin Briscoe, is well on his way to becoming the owner of every single OU passing and total offense record in the books.

There's every indication that the scrambling Omahan may set his name down in the national record books as well.

Briscoe's 301 yards passing against Kansas State College of Pittsburg did nothing to dim his All-America rating in the eyes of observers across the nation. The 29-25 win gave Omaha a running start in regaining the CIC title after a year's absence.

Here's a look at the records he has set this season and the ones that he could shatter before the last whistle:

RECORDS BROKEN

1. 356 yards passing against North Dakota State (Old mark 309 by Carl Meyers vs. Drake, 1963.
2. 401 yards total offense against North Dakota State (Old mark 357 by Briscoe vs. Eastern New Mexico in 1965.
3. 266 career pass completions so far (Old mark 215 by Bill Engelhardt, 1953-56.
4. 41 career TD passes so far (Old mark 36 by Carl Meyers and Bill Engelhardt).
5. 3955 career passing yards so far (Old mark 3687 by Bill Engelhardt, 1953-56).

RECORDS TIED

1. 4 Touchdown passes against North Dakota State (ties mark set by Joe Arenas vs. Wayne U. of Detroit in 1949 and by Briscoe vs. Eastern New Mexico in 1965.
2. 19 pass completions vs. Morningside (tying his own mark vs. Northern Illinois in 1965).

RECORDS ALREADY SET

1. 116 pass completions in 1965 (he has 73 in five games this season).
2. Highest completion percentage, one game (.809 vs. Idaho State in 1965, 17-21).
3. Most passing yards in one season, 1668 in 1965 (He has 1303 in five games this year).
4. Highest career completion percentage, .541 (He is hitting .598 this season).
5. 18 Touchdown passes in one season (He has 14 after five games this season).
6. 2181 yards total offense in 1965 (He has 1359 after five games this season).
7. 218.1 total offensive average per game in 1965 (He is at 271.8 this season after five).
8. Career total offense average per game, 158.8 (He's at 271.8 this year)
9. 306 plays in one season (He has 175 after five games this season).
10. Most plays in one game, 49 vs. Eastern New Mexico in 1965.

RECORDS IN DANGER

1. Career total plays, 976 by Bill Engelhardt, 1953-56 (Briscoe needs only 187 plays in the remaining five game.)
2. Best completion percentage in one season, .567 by Engelhardt (Briscoe is hitting at .598 through five games.
3. And Career Total Offense, 5720 yards by Engelhardt (Briscoe needs only 14 yards against Drake this Saturday to become Omaha's all-time total offensive leader . . . and he will do it playing only three seasons as a regular!

Last Year's Big Eight Leaders Have It Tough

. . . NEWCOMERS PACE STATISTICAL CHARTS

Kansas City, Mo. — Midseason lies just ahead, and none of the four returning statistical champions in the Big Eight Conference has been able to jump into a lead. However, three are edging into challenging positions.

Last year Kansas State's Cornelius Davis bolted to 1,028 rushing yards to win going away. This year the big Cat junior finds himself in fourth place, trying to fight off a pair of quarterbacks and a sophomore power runner like himself.

Getting 88 yards last week, his best single-game output of the season, Davis did move into contention, putting his season total at 275 — compared with his league-leading mark of 445 after four games last year.

This leaves him just 49 yards behind Missouri's Gary Kombrink, the leader again this week. Kombrink, who had the Big Eight's longest run from scrimmage last week, a 75-yard keeper, now sports a total of 324.

the No. 1 challenger to the Tiger quarterback is Oklahoma's Steve Owens, the sophomore back-up man for Ron Shotts at tailboack. Owens, with his second straight game over 100 yards rushing, has a three-game total of 309.

Ranking just ahead of Davis, with 290 yards, is Colorado's sophomore quarterback, Bob Anderson, who is the total offense leader with his 642 yards. Anderson also leads in scoring, where teammate Wilmer Cooks is the defending champion and moving back into contention. After shaking an early injury, the big Buff fullback, who is at his best in heavy traffic, has scored three times in his two games to pull within six points of Anderson.

Iowa State's Tom Busch, too, has pulled himself back into challenging position in the kickoff return column with a 165 mark in nine returns. This lets him hold down the runner-up spot to Kansas' Junior Riggins, who has a slim five-yard lead, 170-165.

Further away from attaining a second statistical championship than the other three is Kansas' David Morgan, who almost lost his chance to win the punting bauble again by default. He's apparently won the punting job back for the Jayhawks, booting seven times for a 36.5 average last week. This mark is well off the 44.1 level shown by Kansas State's leading Bob Coble, but more importantly for Morgan, he's punting again.

Jury Out In Rights Violation

Meridian, Miss. (AP)—An all-white federal court jury began deliberations Wednesday on the fate of 18 men charged with conspiracy in what the government labeled "a calculated, cold-blooded plot" to murder three young civil rights workers in 1964.

The jury of seven women and five men, with testimony from 155 witnesses to consider, was asked by the Justice Department to convict all but one of the defendants. Deliberations began late Wednesday afternoon.

"What you 12 people do here today will be long remembered," said Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. John Doar in final arguments. "If you find these men are not guilty, you will declare the law of Neshoba County to be the law of Mississippi."

Doar said, however, he thought the panel should acquit Travis M. Barnette, 39, a Meridian garage owner, because "I don't think the evidence warrants us asking you to return a guilty verdict against that individual."

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Harold Cox held in reserve a ruling on a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal on five other defendants.

Attorneys for both sides stressed that the men were not on trial for murder, but on charges they conspired to violate the civil rights of two white men, Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both of New York, and a Negro, James Chaney, 22, of Meridian.

Conviction for violating the Reconstruction era federal statute under which the men were tried could mean a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine. The state has never filed charges in the case.

'Took' Won't Run

Washington (UPI) — Rep. E. C. "Took" Gathings, D-Ark., a congressman for 30 years, announced he will not run for re-election.

HE THINKS IT'S MUSIC

It's noise to the human ear, but to Joe, an 8-year-old registered pointer, it's music. Joe's owner, Mrs. Ray Jones of Bryan, Tex., commands him to "play." He bounds to the piano, paws at the keys and howls. He's been at it six years.

Teacher Strike Averted

© New York Times Service

Tallahasse, Fla. — The Florida Education Association and Gov. Claude R. Kirk Jr. came to an agreement Wednesday on the convening of a special session of the legislature on education, and plans for a statewide walkout of teachers were canceled.

The FEA called off a mass meeting scheduled for Orlando Sunday at which teachers were to set the date for the submission of their resignations to county school boards. The association said more than 31,000 resignations were on hand. Teachers had been telling students they would not be at work Monday.

Kirk announced that he was accelerating a study of Florida's education problems. He said he was asking the FEA to join the study and would call a special session of the legislature after receiving the group's report.

FEA officials and the governor had been at odds since the chief executive last spring vetoed efforts of the legislature to increase the sales tax to raise more money for education.

Bodies Of 2 Girls, 17, Are Found

Tallahassee, Fla. (AP)—The battered bodies of two 17-year-old girls—one stripped to bra and panties—were found Wednesday in a "lovers lane" on the edge of the vast Apalachicola National Forest.

Led by an anonyimous telephone caller, police found Ann Wood and Kay Granger about 100 yards off a dirst road near a pond called Blue Sink, about five miles south of Tallahassee.

Officers at the scene said the girls had been both savagely stabbed and beaten. A detective captain said their clothes were shredded.

Parents Identified Them

Parents of the high school seniors identified the bodies.

John Melton, assistant to Leon County Sheriff Bill Joyce, said the girls had severe head damage and had been beaten repeatedly about their faces. He said it appeared the stab wounds had been made with a sharp, round instrument.

"We couldn't tell whether they had been sexually molested," Melton said.

Two Miami pathologists were called in to conduct autopsies and members of the Florida Bureau of Law Enforcement joined city and county authorities on the case.

Car Found

The Wood family station wagon—used by the girls on an errand to buy a part for a phonograph — was found parked at a drive-in restaurant and the keys were in one of the girls' pocketbooks.

Kay had been visiting Ann Wood's home. A relative said the Grangers thought Kay had returned to her home.

Sheriff Joyce said his department learned of the killing when an anonymous caller reported that there were "two bodies in the woods near Blue Sink."

Announcement Soon

SCARY AND WEIRD OR CUTE COSTUMES

HOW HALLOWEEN BEGAN

The hobgoblins, the witches, the fairy princesses; the bobbing-for-apples; the witches' brew; the pumpkins with weird and toothy grins; the fun and frivolity that today is Halloween . . . all began . . . long centuries ago. Then the first of November was church-designated as the day for honoring the saints, and the evening was "All Hallows" (or Holy Evening), and it was the time, the people said, when departed ghosts, and goblins and good fairies all visited the earth. The passing of time gave "All Hallows" the party spirit that we still celebrate when we dress up . . . just for fun . . . once-a-year . . . on Halloween.

Stock Market Dull And Inconclusive

New York (AP) — The stock market groped for a base Wednesday, and spent an inconclusive session with the market indicators leading nowhere. Trading was active.

Volume was 10.51 million shares compared with 10.3 million Tuesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off .87 at 903.40.

The market was mixed at the start and remained that way throughout a dull day.

Of 1,473 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 626 declined and 614 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 46 and new lows 51.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .5 to 325.7 with industrials up .8, rails off 1.2 and utilities off .7 to another new low for the year.

Once again the yield conscious utilities backed down against the stern competition of high interest paying bonds.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose .25 to 95.25. The New York Stock Exchange index gained 12 cents to $52.93.

These broadly based indexes were fed by wide gains of assorted stocks not represented in the smaller, more popular averages.

Corning Glass gained 9½, Fairfield Camera 3⅞, Honeywell 2⅛, Litton Industries 5 and Texas Instruments 5⅛.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks rose, two fell and four were unchanged.

Gimbel Brothers was the volume leader, off 1⅝ at 36⅝ on 339,200 shares.

Among active leaders, Occidental Petroleum continued to respond to its Libyan Oil discovery and advanced another 3½. Sperry Rand gained 1, Allis-Chalmers 2½ and Chrysler 1⅞.

Ford, up ¼, seemed to have no cue as to the outcome of the labor negotiations. GM rose ⅜.

Alcoa fell 2¾ in further reaction to its sharp drop in earnings as well as to reported softening of prices in the aluminum industry.

International Nickel dropped 2¼, Zenith 1⅛, American Can 1, Polaroid 1 and U.S. Gypsum 1⅛.

IBM sported 9 points, Control Data 3⅛, Eastman Kodak 1¼.

Barrows, Gilts 25c, 50c Lower

Grain Futures Close Mixed

Chicago (AP) — All grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade closed on a mixed tone Wednesday, reflecting, in part, nervousness of the market and uncertainty of current futures price trends.

Prices of all futures had opened on a lower tone. Later, prices edged lower, largely because traders felt that the U.S. Department of Agriculture was stalling off its expected announcement of a cut in feed grain acreage for 1968. Prices picked up a small measure of strength near the close.

When grain trade closed, wheat was unchanged to ½ cent a bushel lower, December 1.53¼-53; corn was ⅜ lower to ½ higher, December 1.14⅛-¼; oats were unchanged to ¼ higher, December 71⅝ cents; rye was unchanged to ¼ higher, December 1.19; and soybeans were unchanged to ¼ higher, November 2.64½-⅝.

French, Despite Withdrawal, Said Still Force In Vietnam

By GEORGE McARTHUR

Saigon (AP)—Seldom has a colonial experience ended in such bitterness, tragedy and confusion as that surrounding France's withdrawal from Vietnam after the defeat at Dien Bien Phu.

"We thought everything had just gone to hell," says one Frenchman who changed his mind and stayed to see it through.

Now, 13 years later, Frenchmen remaining are generally hardy people, no longer given to despair but too knowing to be very hopeful.

Their influence, direct and indirect, is far out of proportion to their numbers. For in its bare 50 years of solid colonial rule, France left an imprint on Vietnam almost as deep as the Chinese achieved in their 1,000-year occupation.

Striking Signs

The outward signs are striking. Every village of any size has a bakery which makes crusty French bread. The Mekong Delta is still a Beau Geste land of old forts, hundreds of small steel "Eiffel" bridges and French-built stucco administrative offices, schools and churches.

In Saigon, many shops have French names, many restaurants have French menus and the City Hall is known as the Hotel de Ville. The few doctors advertise Paris medical degrees and the lawyers are equally proud of a French background. Serious research on Vietnam can only be done by consulting French books, and more Vietnamese travel to Paris each year than to any other city.

Many Americans who see all this and view with suspicion and anger the neutralist Asian views of French President Charles de Gaulle, see the Frenchman here as some sort of potential fifth column. The supposition is wrong.

Not De Gaulle

"When you go into a French home here you may see a picture of Marshal Petain on the wall," noted one officer. "But you certainly won't find any picture of De Gaulle."

De Gaulles views prompted the South Vietnamese to break diplomatic relations with France in mid-1965. The French were permitted to retain a consular staff, however.

De Gaulle, in fact, always has held questionable sway over Frenchmen overseas, and particularly in Vietnam. In World War II, the French in Indochina more or less solidly supported the Vichy regime of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain.

The animosity of the French community toward the United States grows largely from this and from the later period when many felt firm American support, particularly air power, could have saved the day at Dien Bien Phu.

Feelings Put Aside

These feelings of the French in Vietnam have, however, been put aside to a remarkable degree.

"We are all growing," an American official said. "The Frenchmen here are a pretty pragmatic lot. They know they are getting a free ride now because we are here and they generally support our position."

Another American who intimately knows the French community adds: "These things are in the past for them. But what we do get is criticism that we are repeating their mistakes. And they frequently express the feeling that they could do the job better. They say if they had our power things would never have gotten this bad."

The Frenchmen themselves now lead more or less quiet lives and try and stay out of the limelight.

"We have substantial interests here and we want to protect them as best we can," said one. "It is a holding operation and we don't want to draw fire from anyone if we can help it."

The biggest holdings are rubber plantations and three big Saigon banks. There also are smaller tea and coffee plantations, the biggest brewery in Vietnam and public utilities contracts.

Romney Buys Time On CBS For Nov. 15

New York — Gov. George Romney has purchased a half-hour of prime evening television time Nov. 15 on the Columbia Broadcasting System network, leading to speculation that he will use the time to announce his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

CBS said representatives of the Michigan governor had requested a number of 30-minute segments and were granted the Wednesday evening slot at 9 p.m. CDT.

Time could cost as much as $70,000 if all of the network's 200 stations carry the program, according to Carl W. Tillmanns, CBS vice president and general sales manager.

"We have just received the order and we will accept it," the executive added. Tillmanns said he had "not the slightest idea" what Romney would use the time for.

Robert S. Marker, a senior vice president in charge of the Detroit office of McCann-Erickson, Inc., said the advertising agency had purchased the time on behalf of Romney Associates, a group supporting the governor.

"In all honesty, I do not know what the governor will say," Marker said.

Damage Suit Says Mayor Of Detroit 'Brutal Attacker'

Detroit (AP) — The sister-in-law of Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh Wednesday filed a $100,000 damage suit against him, charging he "brutally attacked" her last July 17.

The suit was filed in Wayne County Circuit Court in behalf of Mrs. Kaye B. Martin whose husband is a brother of the mayor's estranged wife, Mary Helen. Mrs. Cavanagh is suing her husband for separate maintenance.

Cavanagh said he would have no comment on the suit.

Mrs. Martin charged in her suit that Cavanagh "kicked and knocked her against the furniture and onto the floor," and that he kicked her in the stomach during a scuffle in an upstairs hall of the river front mansion where the mayor lives.

Critic Of Monty, Former 8th Army Commander, Dies

London (AP)—Sir Richard McCreery, commander of the British 8th Army in Italy from 1944-45, died at his London apartment Wednesday. He was 69.

McCreery, who was chief of general staff in the Middle East in 1942, sparked a storm in 1959 when he criticized Field Marshal Montgomery's tactics in the western desert campaign.

He claimed Montgomery's methods during the Alamein breakout in October, 1942, caused many unecessary deaths.

McCreery leaves a widow, three sons and a daughter.

Cancer Society Asks End To Cigarette Ads

New York (AP) — The American Cancer Society's directors recommended Wednesday that all ciagarette advertising be ended.

"Advertising is too persuasive, too valid and too vital a part of our American life to be used in the sale of such a lethal product as the cigarette," the directors said in a resolution.

The society said three-quarters of its board of 104, about half of them medical personnel, voted for the resolution.

Tobacco Institute 'Surprised'

The Tobacco Institute, a trade association representing major cigarette and cigar manufacturers, said only that the recommendation "came somewhat as a surprise."

The resolution added: "It is hoped that this goal will be achieved by voluntary self-regulation and that governmental action will not be necessary.

"Cigarette smoking is not the result of an advertising conspiracy but the elimination of cigarette advertising may do much to destroy the social acceptance of this dangerous habit. It will make giving up smoking easier for many and it will stop the constant media pressures on the young to start smoking.

'Not Immediately'

"The end of cigarette advertising will not be accomplished immediately. Many important actions which counterbalance advertising must be supported until the final goal is achieved. Cigarette smoking must remain a matter of individual choice, but we want the choice to be not only in form but free from seductive advertising appeals."

Victor Sholis of Louisville, Ky., one who oppsed the resolution, said advertising wasn't a factor that influnced behavior, and he objected to the limitation on advertising.

The directors noted that some publishers and broadcasters already have banned cigarette advertising. They mentioned New Yorker magazine, Saturday Review and Reader's Digest.

New Products Discussed At Hospital Meet

Some 88 hospital personnel from Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas were informed of new products and new ways to approach hospital supply and personnel problems at the second annual Central Service Institute here Wednesday.

Featured speakers at the institute, sponsored by the Omaha area Central Service Organization, included John Kline, purchasing agent at Lincoln General Hospital, and representatives from several hospital supply laboratories.

The delegates to the series of meetings included purchasing agents, nursing directors, supply and service directors and surgeons.

Eisenhower Up, In Good Spirits At Walter Reed

Washington (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, 77, was under treatment Wednesday for a disorder that commonly strikes aging men—enlargement of the prostate gland.

His doctors described the ailment as benign, or noncancerous. The physicians said he "is up and around and out of bed," and his spirits are good.

The doctors at the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital, where Eisenhower was hospitalized late Tuesday, also said that while there are indications of a partial obstruction within his urinary tract, surgery is not now indicated.

$2,091,840 FHA Loans Granted

The Farmers Home Administration made emergency loans in Nebraska of $2,091,840 during the fiscal year ended last June 30 to help farmers and ranchers recover from natural disasters, state FHA director Heasty W. Reesman reported.

He said 586 farmers obtained U.S. Department of Agriculture loans to continue operations damaged by hail, floods, drought and cold temperatures.

Two Indictments Returned Against Lewis Zemler, 57

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP) — A federal grand jury has returned two indictments against Lewis Zemler, also known as Harry Katz, 57, Pittsburgh, in connection with the theft of $640,000 in travelers check earlier this year in a bank burglary in Nebraska and in New York City.

He is charged with interstate transportation of stolen travlers checks and receiving and concealing more than $5,000 in travelers checks taken in the New York theft.

Zelmer, now free on $10,000 bond, was arrested in September by Las Vegas police after a casino cashier said he tried to cash several travelers checks which had been reported stolen.

Federal officials said some of the money orders were reported stolen in a burglary at Salem, Neb.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

A X Y D L B A A X R
to L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another in this example, A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
